SHOTS AND ROCKS FAIL TO SMASH DEMOCRAT RALLY

Troy, N. Y., October 31.—Shots were fired and windows were broken by stones while James Dwyer, democratic candidate for congress, was delivering an address tonight at Boyn-tonville, 12 miles from here. Colonel Ransom Gillette, candidate for state senator, said four men in Ku Klux Klan regalia were seen fleeing from the meeting place. He said democratic leaders had received reports that members of the Klan had said they intended to break up the meeting. The meeting was resumed after the disturbers had fled. One man was cut by flying glass. County sheriff's office tonight began an investigation.

INSURANCE CHECK OF DEAD VETERAN AIDS DAVIS RACE

Candidate Accepts Contribution as Evidence of "Heart of People" Behind Democracy.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, October 31.—A check for $57.50 was exhibited tonight by John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, before audiences at the Harlem Casino and later at public school number 17. Mr. Davis said he would not exchange the check he held for all the money Joseph Grundy had collected in Pennsylvania for the republican campaign fund, whether the total Mr. Grundy had collected was $650,000 or twice that sum. He said the certificate in his hand meant far more than material wealth to his party; that it represented the spirit of democracy as contrasted with the spirit of republicanism. As an evidence of "republicanism" he said he had seen two letters from Mr. Grundy urging donations with the slogan "a dollar, contributed will help Coolidge in power." "As yet have received freely, freely shall we give," Mr. Davis said. "Eyes Filled With Tears." With tear-filled eyes, the candidate then described the check and read the letter which had accompanied it, asserting that it "speaks the real heart of America." The check, Mr. Davis said, "is from the treasurer of the United States, through the United States Veterans bureau, and the amount is $57.50, dated the first day of October, 1924, for a September allotment. And here is the letter and I want you to lay it alongside Mr. Grundy's and when you vote next Tuesday, to remember the two if you can, and think about what you stand alone in the polling place ready to mark your ballot. I had not the permission of the signer to send her name and yet I am going to do it anyhow, for I cannot believe it possible that she would object."

MEXICO WILL BAR JAPANESE COLONY

Federal Government Upholds Lower California Governor in Opposing Influx of Orientals. Bragley Calif., October 31.—The federal government of Mexico "is unalterably opposed" to Japanese and other far eastern colonization schemes in the republic and to any further admissions of Orientals to any part of the country, according to a telegram received today from Mexico City by Governor Rodolfo Rodriguez, of the northern state of Lower California. Governor Rodriguez stated that the telegram had been received from Mexico City from the office of the secretary of state, who, he declared, had authorized its publication and would confirm its contents. The governor made his announcement at Mexicali, across the international border, declaring that the federal authorities upheld him in opposing to recently-reported plans of a Japanese-American syndicate to send 20,000 Japanese colonists to land immediately south of Mexicali.

PRINTING UNIONS IN NEW YORK ADD POWER TO DAVIS

BELIEVE LA FOLLETTE CANNOT WIN ELECTION

Executives of Trades Councils in City and State Announce Support for Democratic Ticket.

New York, October 31.—Another labor endorsement was given John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, when he returned here tonight from his home in Locust Valley to speak at Public School 17.

It came from the New York city and state allied printing councils through an announcement made public by the eastern democratic headquarters and followed that of yesterday announced in a statement by members of the executive council of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York.

In announcing its endorsement of Mr. Davis, the New York City Printing Council said in the statement issued by democratic headquarters: "The enemies of organized labor are well known. No member of organized labor in his right sense would think of voting for Coolidge and Dawes. By this time it is plainly evident that a vote for La Follette means a half vote for Dawes, the arch enemy of organized labor, and his running mate, Coolidge."

Feel La Follette Cannot Win. "It is now clearly established that La Follette cannot win. We believe that John W. Davis can and will win and we heartily endorse his candidacy, and we urge all our members and all the true friends of organized labor not only to vote for John W. Davis but to work earnestly and intelligently in his behalf."

"This decision on our part is not lightly arrived at. We have studied closely the record and the utterances of Mr. Davis. His record in congress and as solicitor general is one that all working men and women can well proud of."

"The recent decision of the United States supreme court upholding that provision of the Clayton anti-trust act which provides for a trial by jury in the case of labor leaders being cited for contempt calls attention to one of the brilliant performances in Mr. Davis' career."

Gets Credit for "Jury Trial" Act. "If he never did anything else, that alone should gain for him the support of every true American."

STEP-SON SLAYS TO SAVE MOTHER

Youth Has Recourse To Target Rifle When Husband Threatens Lives of Family.

Hagerstown, Md., October 31.—Harry Gaslin, 20, was shot and killed at his home here late today by his 14-year-old stepson, Richard Wilson, after Gaslin, according to stories told the police, had threatened his wife and the boy with a revolver.

Following the shooting the boy called a doctor and surrendered to the police. He is being held for preliminary hearing. Richard had been making his home with his mother since her marriage to Gaslin last June. His own father, D. W. Wilson, lives at Bayard, W. Va.

Gaslin's body, with a bullet wound under the heart, was found lying on the floor of the dining room. A .44 caliber revolver lay beside it, and nearby were the unexploded cartridges, which had been removed by someone. The .22 caliber rifle with which Richard is said to have shot his stepfather was found on a porch.

Shots and Runs for Doctor. According to the story told by the boy, Gaslin came home under the influence of liquor, drew a revolver and pointed it at Mrs. Gaslin. "I ran to the corner, picked the rifle and fired," he continued. "Then I ran out. I did not see him (Gaslin)." The police are investigating the case.

Former Governor Promoted To Editor of Prison Paper

'GOOD REPUTATIONS' M'CRAV'S LEADING EDITORIAL. At the masthead of "Good Words," published monthly at the federal penitentiary here "with the approval of the department of justice" and "dedicated to the welfare of the men in prison," appears the name of a new editor. The editor's name is given simply as "W. T. McCray." Mr. McCray was not always an editor, however. Before qualifying for his editorial duties on "Good Words," he was a big planter, breeder of fancy cattle and, more recently, governor of Indiana. The current issue, dated November 1, is the second to pass under his editorial eye. The editorial page is devoted entirely to editorials, with no advertising or news matter. Three editorials are used. "Good Reputations," "Parole," and "Baseball." In addition, there is a full page editorial on the front page, "Thanksgiving," also the work of the editor-in-chief. Appointment of the former governor as editor of the prison magazine is regarded as a promotion, his first assignment at the prison having been announced as that of a library clerk. While governor of Indiana, McCray was indicted and convicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud and sentenced to federal prison here. He resigned as governor the day after conviction and 24 hours later was serving his sentence.

LAWYERS BICKER AS INQUIRY ENDS; RESULT IS VAGUE

Findings of Borah Committee on Partial Investigation Not Likely To Affect Election.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, October 31.—The campaign fund investigation, dragging through its final hours here in the cross-fire of elections, has adjourned over the election, without any findings that are expected to have any material effect upon the balloting Tuesday, but with some revelations of campaign methods that probably will boost efforts in congress to further regulate party expenditures.

Senator Borah is on his way here from Chicago to have a final meeting with the committee Saturday, when its further program will be outlined. It has been indicated that the committee will issue a statement at that time covering its work to date, but that will be determined at the Saturday meeting.

Finish Probe Later. After the election, the committee is expected to go forward with its investigation, and then to draw up a comprehensive report for submission to congress. This report is expected to give an impetus to enactment of legislation for regulation of campaign expenditures, taken up at the last congress, but failing through veto of the postal salary increase bill by the president, which carried as a rider a complete new corrupt practices act framed by Representative Cable, of Ohio.

Senator Borah, chairman of the present committee, took a leading part in the senate in the campaign for regulatory legislation. He introduced a bill in the senate, providing a new corrupt practices act, which was more drastic in some particulars than the Cable measure, but the bill of the house was accepted finally. Borah is expected to open up the fight in the next session.

Would Reduce Gift Limit. Some measure which would cut down considerably the maximum contributions allowed, so that campaign would be financed to a greater degree by the rank and file of the voters has long been urged, and it appears

30,000 Prisoners Reported Taken By Manchurians

Three Towns on Chihli-Manchurian Border Are Seized, Is Claim.

Tokio, November 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Manchurian forces have completely occupied Shenhaiwan on the Chihli-Manchurian border; the port of Chinwangtao, adjoining Shenhaiwan and Peking, and the seaside resort southwest of Chinwangtao, according to a communique issued in Mukden by Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian leader, says the Mukden correspondent of the Kokusan news agency.

The occupation of the three towns was completed Thursday after two days of heavy fighting. The Manchurians, the communique says, captured 30,000 Chihli troops, including General Yang Ching-Chen, commanding the Chihli 24th division; 100 field guns and 30,000 rifles.

Shanghai, October 31.—General Wu Pei-fu has surrendered. According to an unconfirmed communique issued from Mukden, an attack on Tientsin is expected to end the war.

SHANGHAIED CREW OF RUM CARRIER WINS SEA STRIKE

Four Famished Sailors Force Skipper of Natty Two-Master Into Hands of U. S. Guards.

FEAR OF SEA LAW MAKES STRIKE QUIET

Avoid Mutiny Charge by Not Seizing Ship—Captain Denies Knowledge of Any "Shanghai."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, October 31.—Four starving sailors, who said they and been shanghaied into the Rum Row service, compelled a reluctant skipper to surrender to the coast guard cutter Gresham today the natty two-master Dorothy M. Smart, of Newfoundland, and her cargo of brandy.

Michael Gillan, of Halifax, was the skipper. His crew was Louis Cocchini, mate, and Albert Edward Birgman, cook, both of New York; Henry A. Gillis, of Perth Amboy, N. J., and Carl Jaeger, of Boston, seamen.

Scouting between the rum fleet and shore, the Gresham's searchlights last night picked out the glimmering top-lights of a craft that seemed abandoned. Her decks were deserted; her anchor chain slapped against the picking bows her under swung at the will of the waves; her masts were bare of sails.

Flow Distress Signals. A British ensign hung upside down from a lanyard—the signal of distress. Under it were strong corroborative signs—shirts and blankets, shredded and frayed.

The Gresham hailed the little two-master and four despairing sailors answered. They announced they were prisoners aboard; that they had been without food and water for seven days; that their skipper refused to put them ashore. They pleaded to possess the Dorothy M. Smart and feed and water her crew.

Seize 20 Barrels of Brandy. Captain Brockway consented to tow the craft and thus the cutter and its prize arrived today at the Battery, where it was boarded by agents of the department of justice, who seized the 20 barrels of brandy in the vessel's hold and began an investigation of the shanghai story.

"We shipped out of New York 24 days ago," was Mate Cocchini's tale. "We were told we were rigged up for the Brick-Carrier enterprise, sailing between New York and Cape May. They took us out at night, in a speedboat, and when we woke up next morning we were on the Dorothy M. Smart, surrounded by casks of rum and in the midst of the rum fleet."

Fear Mutiny Charge. Ordered to hoist sail for a voyage to Halifax, the sailors countered with a demand that they be set ashore at once, they said. The skipper refused and so they drifted about for 22 days with sails furled. The anchor was lost and a week ago the food and water ran out, and distress signals were run up. The sailors said they next have taken command of the craft and sailed her into port, but the skipper warned them that that would be mutiny and piracy, so they watched and drifted until at last the Gresham came to the rescue.

Captain Gillan declared he knew nothing of the shanghaiing or how his crew got aboard. All he would tell was that he came from Newfoundland, found the two-master on Rum Row, apparently a derelict, and took command of her.

WORKMAN UNHURT DESPITE CAVE-IN OF TONS OF DIRT

G. E. Robertson, 33-year-old workman for the Georgia Railway & Power company, evidently holds a charmed life. This was borne out late Wednesday afternoon when he emerged unscathed from beneath several tons of dirt which had caved in upon his body as he worked on a conduit in a trench on Spring street.

Robertson, with several other workmen, was engaged in laying a conduit in the trench far below the pavement. The avalanche of earth descended without warning.

Rescued from what was at first thought to have been his grave, Robertson was found in a caving in of such a nature that he was not injured.

BRITAIN AT WAR WITH RUSS, SAYS SHAW STATEMENT

(Copyright, 1924, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.) London, October 30.—"England is now virtually at war with Russia." This was the conclusion of George Bernard Shaw in a startling statement announcing his views of the British general election for a representative of the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution. Shaw's statement follows: "The result of the general election means three things: "1—England is now virtually at war with Russia. "2—England has a head in European diplomacy. "3—England has at last got the government she deserves. "This last is the most alarming of the three."

INDICT MECHANIC AS DRIVER OF CAR WHICH HIT WOMAN

George Armstrong Is Sought as Man Who Killed Mrs. Josephine Moore Last Thursday.

Sweeping aside the veil of mystery which has overhung the probe into the death of Mrs. Josephine Moore, of 103 Ponce de Leon avenue, who was killed last Sunday in an automobile accident, the Fulton county grand jury Friday identified George Armstrong, 24-year-old mechanic, of 835 East Lake drive, as the driver of the "death car."

A few minutes after the true bill, charging involuntary manslaughter against Armstrong was returned, a warrant for his arrest was issued. The warrant was put in the hands of Sheriff J. I. Lowry, who will aid in a nationwide search for Armstrong.

Armstrong Story Varies. Armstrong is the brother of F. P. Armstrong, southeastern district manager for the United States Hoffman Machinery corporation, police say. Monday morning—on the day of the finding of the "death car"—F. P. Armstrong told police that George Armstrong was his brother, but stated that he did not know where he could be found.

F. P. Armstrong had just arrived in the city, police stated, and had not been acquainted with the details of the accident. When asked where his brother lived, F. P. Armstrong is said by the police to have stated that he spent most of his time at his home, 925 East Lake drive.

CUBA WILL ELECT PRESIDENT TODAY

Candidates Accused of Planning Revolts in Case of Defeat—Situation Quiet at Present.

Havana, Cuba, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—Business activities in Cuba will halt tomorrow while the electors decide the next president of the republic, as between former President Mario G. Menocal and General Gerardo Machado.

By presidential decree stores and all factories and business houses must be closed for the day. Sale of necessities only will be permitted. No liquor may be sold.

The campaign between Machado, heading the liberal ticket, and Menocal, nominee of the conservative party, has been tense. It brought an armed clash recently in the city of Camaguey, where a dozen men lost their lives, and almost 100 were wounded.

Believe Violence Is Over. Since then, the situation outwardly at least, has grown more quiet, and government officials believe that except for possible isolated violence the election of a president and half the members of congress will pass quietly.

President Zayas, who declined to run for a second term when he failed to add the conservative nomination to that given him by the popular party, has announced an impartial stand. He has ordered that police be held in check from what was at first thought to have been his grave. Robertson was found in a caving in of such a nature that he was not injured.

HALLOWEEN PARTY FOLLOWED BY ROW, ENDING IN TRAGEDY

Calvin Franklin, 23, Dies With Bullet in Heart as Ambulance Speeds to Grady Hospital.

GEORGE WALLS SOUGHT BY POLICE IN MURDER

Witnesses Say Eleven Shots Fired—Wife of Slain Man Tried to Prevent Shooting.

A pistol brand in a crowded cafe late Friday night ended in the killing of Calvin Franklin, 23, of 232 Courtland street, a man who, police believe, is George Walls, of 159 Courtland street.

Walls dashed out of the cafe, which is located at the corner of Courtland and Cain streets, police were told, and disappeared in the darkness, making good his escape before witnesses of the tragedy recovered sufficiently from the excitement to give chase. The city is being combed for Walls, and his arrest is expected momentarily.

Franklin was shot through the heart and died in the ambulance as it sped toward Grady hospital. Though Walls is declared to have fired six shots, the wound through the heart was the only one found on the body.

Shooting Due to Brawl. The shooting was the outgrowth of a drunken brawl, police were told, and was witnessed by the terrified young wife of Franklin, who sought frantically to force her husband out of the restaurant before the two men drew their pistols.

Police were told by Eugene Barnes, of 13 North Moreland avenue, and John Milton Davis, of St. Joseph's hospital, who were witnesses to the killing, that Franklin fired five shots at Walls and that the latter fired six shots at Franklin. They said both men were drinking, as did other witnesses who were questioned by police.

Follows Halloween Party. The story of the grim tragedy, which stalked close on the heels of a merry Halloween party, was related to police by more than a half-dozen of witnesses. According to all the witnesses, with the exception of one or two instances, the story is this: Franklin and his wife, kaily costumed in Halloween dress, entered the cafe about 12 o'clock. There he met Walls, and a friendly but boisterous argument ensued. Both men were drinking heavily, it was said, and the friendly argument soon developed into an altercation during which several blows were struck.

Mrs. Franklin clung to her husband frantically, begging him to leave the restaurant. He refused and continued in the controversy with Walls. Franklin drew a revolver, but Mrs. Franklin, with the aid of others in the restaurant, succeeded in wresting it from him.

EX-PRIEST FREED OF SLAYING KIN

Montreal Jury Acquits Adelard Delorme in Third Trial—Verdict in Four Hours.

Montreal, October 31.—Adelard Delorme, former priest, was acquitted of the charge of having murdered his half-brother in January, 1922, by a jury in the court of king's bench today. It was his third trial on the same charge.

The jury was out less than four hours. At the former priest's two earlier trials the juries failed to agree. The former priest has been either in jail or in sanitariums undergoing tests as to mental competence most of the time since the half-frozen body of his half-brother, Raoul Delorme, a University of Ottawa student, was found beside a road on the outskirts of this city almost three years ago. He had been shot six times in the head.

Crown attorneys charged that Adelard Delorme had killed the younger man that he might inherit his $120,000 estate. It was testified at the earlier trials that the former priest had induced his half-brother to take out a $25,000 life insurance policy a short time before he was murdered.

Adelard Delorme was said to have been named as the beneficiary. The defendant made a stubborn fight against his prosecutors. At both of his previous trials, alienists testified in defense of him.

Rescued from what was at first thought to have been his grave, Robertson was found in a caving in of such a nature that he was not injured.

DAVIS-BRYAN CHECK WILL BE SENT TODAY

A check for either $1,000 or $1,500 will be sent Saturday to the national democratic campaign headquarters, to add to the amounts already sent from Georgia by Victor Allen, finance director for the state, it was stated at state headquarters Friday.

District finance directors were urged to make their remittances for Saturday morning as large as possible, in order that the larger of the two amounts might be sent.

Contributions from this state to the democratic war chest now total approximately $10,000 and it is hoped that much more may be given by loyal Georgia democrats in time for use in the national campaign, which ends with the election Tuesday.

Mr. Allen said Friday party leaders throughout the state were confident that Georgia would poll as large a majority for the democratic candidates as she has done in previous national elections.

Eufaula Library Given Historic Poster of Meet For Confederate Cause

Eufaula, Ala., October 31.—(Special.)—An interesting relic, a framed poster, was presented to the Carnegie library of Eufaula this week by Miss Annie Kendrick Walker, of New York, who was here on a visit to her old home. Walker, Miss Walker herself was for many years a well-known writer for a Birmingham newspaper.

The gift is on display at a local jewelry store, and is attracting much attention. Couched in words ringing with patriotic fervor such as "Shall we be led by the Abolitionists?" "Close your business houses, leave your plows in the field and come—it is signed by a large number of men, whose names are identified with Barbour county and Alabama history. The name of John Gill Shorter, governor of Alabama from 1891-95, heads the list. The poster was printed in 1860.

eds Carry on Secret Work Despite Arrests

It is the ninth installment of a series of articles in which Jacob Spolansky, former member of the department of justice, reveals the inner workings of the communist movement in the United States.

BY JACOB SPOLANSKY.

CHAPTER 16.

The questions most often asked are: "How do they manage to do all these things and not get caught?" "How do they go about their business?"

The obvious answer to the first is that they don't. Hundreds are arrested and deported yearly. Yet in spite of these arrests the work is still carried on. It is hard to tell the exact procedure and the details of their machinery because it changes constantly to prevent the government from learning their secret "underground channels" and thus blocking them. The general plan, however, is fairly simple in outline.

In the first place there is the international—the main source of all communist orders throughout the world. The idea for this organization in reality is very old. It dates back to 1888, when, in Switzerland, two prominent Russian socialists—Ver Zasluch, G. Plachanoff and P. Axelrod—organized a group known as the "Liberation of Labor group."

From this was subsequently created the Russian social democratic party, which was the forerunner of the present Russian communist party, and which holds the leading force in activities of the international.

How International Functions.

The Communist International is a sort of general staff representing the communist parties in countries throughout the world. It is composed of representatives from all countries, assessing communist organizations, and it is an executive body which controls indirectly the communist parties throughout the world. It aims to bring about an armed conflict between the working people of the world and the capitalists, with a view to overthrowing the established governments and replacing them with "governments by the proletariat."

From time to time—usually once a year—sessions are held in Moscow at which all questions relating to communist affairs are brought up and decided. These decisions are final. The international comes all orders relating to propaganda and procedure for organizing new communist groups. The international is the source of final authority.

At present it is governed by an executive committee composed of 25 members, to whom are submitted all questions pertaining to communism for final disposition in accordance with the rules laid down by the last "congress." This executive committee elects a presidium of seven members, who actually are the sole dictators of the entire radical movement all over the world.

Organization Highly Centralized.

In fact, the presidium of the international is the most centralized organization in existence. Within the executive committee are numerous bureaus. One is the political bureau, which solves all problems submitted to it of political procedure in relation to the communist organization of the country submitting the problem. Then there is the organization bureau, composed of seven members who, as the name suggests, deal with problems of organization in various countries, send men to aid in organizing new communist centers, and aid generally in the work of establishing headquarters in new territory. This bureau also is in charge of the organization of various bureaus for carrying on the illegal underground work of the communist in countries which do not permit the spread of communist propaganda in the open.

There is also a general secretariat, which is an auxiliary branch of the presidium. This division takes charge of all matters of communication between various sections of the organization.

Then there is a department of education, and a department of agitation, which work in conjunction with one another with a view to coordinating educational and agitational work of the various communist parties all over the world.

Exercises Wide Control.

Besides these departments there is an eastern department, dealing exclusively with communist problems of eastern countries. Formerly there were also bureaus in charge of communist work in other countries, in western Europe, North and South America, but these have now been abolished by the central executive committee. In their place, and in place of second-hand orders being sent to communist organizations in these countries, special representatives now are sent to supervise in person the activities of the communist parties.

There is also a women's section, handling all questions dealing with enlarging the lists of women members, and a sports section, which is charged with spreading propaganda through athletic organizations throughout the world.

The activities of the communist international in the United States begins with the first congress, 1919, at which American communists were represented by Boris Reinstein, of Buffalo, a former member of the social labor party.

At the second congress, 1923, the United States was represented by five delegates—John Reed, Louis Fraina, Alexander Stoklitzy, John Ballan and Edward Lengren. In 1921 there were two delegates from the United States—Robert Minor and Oscar Tyerowsky, and in 1922, the American delegation was larger than that from any other country, consisting of ten delegates, their identity being hidden under code names.

In a similar manner the identity of all who work for the cause of communism is protected by aliases which are changed every six months.

Operations in United States.

In the United States all communist affairs are under control of a central executive committee, the headquarters of which varies, according to the needs of the situation, and is displayed by government officials in different sections of the country. Sometimes it meets in Chicago, sometimes in New York. Mostly it is New York, however, because of the rapid speed in communication from here to Russia. This executive committee has final authority delegated to it from the executive committee of the international. It is the body from which orders issue directly to local communist organizations here, and to which are submitted all matters in connection with the work of the organization. This committee also appoints organizers and divides the country into districts and subdistricts. In these districts various individual groups—the various language federations, the anarchist-communists, etc.—elect their captains and the captains elect the branch organizers. The branch organizers, in turn, elect the local organizers. All are directly under the authority of the central executive committee.

The organization, it is seen, is patterned much after the organization of an army division, the Moscow executive committee taking the place of general headquarters, the executive committee of the United States in relative position of regimental headquarters, with the various language federations, divisional groups and local groups reporting in much the same fashion as the battalion, company and platoon, each group having its own head who is responsible to and takes orders from another head of a larger group.

Nor does the analogy stop there, for discipline is one of the main teachings of communism. Not to do what is assigned to one is an unforgivable breach of party loyalty. It is the plan, in fact, to build up a strong centralized organization of military character which, it is planned, will lead the workers in due time against the armed capitalist state.

Another installment will be published in an early issue of The Constitution.

ALL CALM IN SPAIN, EMBASSY DECLARES

Washington, October 31.—The Spanish embassy in a formal statement issued here today declared tranquility prevailed in Spain.

"In Spain everything is quiet," said statement, "and there is no foundation to the news regarding the banquet at which a professor of the University of Madrid was entertained."

News from Africa, the statement said, "is improving every day."

The withdrawal towards Xauen, it continued, "is being carried out with regularity and practically without any losses."

Dispatches last night from the Spanish border quoted travelers as having told of a dinner in Madrid at which speeches were made by prominent Spaniards protesting against the military dictatorship continuing in power.

213 PROFESSORS BACK INDEPENDENT TICKET

Washington, October 31.—La Follette-Whelan headquarters today made public an endorsement of the independent ticket and platform signed by 213 professors of economics and sociology and 150 professors of history, religion, law, anthropology, languages, literature, psychology and agriculture.

"The time is ripe," said the statement, "for a realignment in American politics in such a way as to make our parties stand for fundamental issues. As the dominant elements in both of the old parties represent a basic conservatism, progressivism should now unite, even though they differ in details. Support of the La Follette ticket will help greatly in the formation of a new party and the desired realignment of political forces."

RADIO TO CARRY DAVIS TALK ALSO FOR FIFTH TIME

Washington, October 31.—The radio "hook up" by which President Coolidge will make his final address next Monday night also will carry a speech by John W. Davis, plans having been completed by telephone officials to make facilities available to the democratic candidate on the same night but at a different hour.

Mr. Davis will begin his address at 9:15 p. m., eastern standard time, and President Coolidge will follow immediately thereafter. The democratic candidate will talk from New York, while the president's speech will be broadcast from the white house.

Twenty-three stations will be hooked up in the chain of stations extending from coast to coast and radio experts expect the two candidates to reach the largest audience ever to hear an address.

The presence of two major presidential candidates on the same platform, figuratively, and on the eve of an election, likewise will mark an epoch in political campaigning.

BIG ORLANDO HOTEL BOUGHT BY SYNDICATE

Orlando, Fla., October 31.—Announcement was made today of the purchase of the hotel, which was recently thrown into litigation, soon after its opening were some two years ago, by a syndicate of local capitalists headed by I. W. Phillips, president of the Bank of Orange & Trust Co.

The litigation began when A. D. Warner, one of the stockholders, secured control of the stock, which up to that time had been controlled by J. F. Ange. Suits and counter-suits followed on several occasions, and the hotel has been in the hands of the law for some time. The hotel is known to have cost a million and a quarter dollars.

CHANCE CONVICTED FOR FIFTH TIME

Statesboro, Ga., October 31.—R. H. Chance was given a sentence of from one to two years by Judge H. B. Strange tonight, when a jury of Bulloch county adjudged him guilty of manslaughter. All evidence was finished yesterday afternoon and lawyers finished their arguments about noon today. The jury deliberated until late in the afternoon, returning its verdict early tonight.

The trial lasted two and a half days, having started Wednesday. Chance was on trial for murder of Watson Allen, which was committed in December, 1923. Two others, Sydney and Gary Rowe, pleaded guilty at the first trial and are now serving sentences on the Laurens county gang.

Chance appealed for a new trial which, with three subsequent trials, was granted. This was the fourth time he has faced a jury in Bulloch county. Each time he has been found guilty. In each prior case, however, a new trial was granted.

Chance was defended by J. J. E. Anderson, of Statesboro; A. M. Deal, of Statesboro; and E. K. Overstreet, of Savannah; R. Lee Moore, of Statesboro; A. S. Anderson, of Millen, and J. A. Dixon, of Millen, represented the state.

FILES SUIT TO COMPEL PROMOTION OF HIS SON

Chippewa Falls, Wis., October 31. William A. King, local lumberman, today began suit against the board of education to compel that body to permit the promotion of his son, William, Jr., from the kindergarten to the first grade.

Mr. King contended that in spite of a school board rule that no child be admitted to the first grade until five years and three months old, his son is in every respect qualified for promotion.

STEAMER IS SHAKEN VIOLENTLY BY QUAKE

New York, October 31.—Officers of the steamship Providence, which arrived from Mediterranean ports today reported that three distinct earth shocks were felt October 24 when the steamer was off Terceira, Azores islands.

During the disturbances the ship was shaken violently and the passengers were greatly alarmed. The first vibration was of four seconds duration and the other lasted two seconds each. The first occurred at 9:30 a. m.

The Providence had 233 passengers. Great Britain now has 15,000,000 workers and of these 1,000,000 are unemployed at present.

Tokio, Japan, will pave the equivalent of 211 acres of streets within the next three years.

COMPANY WILL PLANT COTTON IN ETHIOPIA

Brussels, October 31.—A corporation capitalized at 500,000 francs has been founded with the object of encouraging the growing of cotton in Ethiopia. The first experiments are already under way and if the hopes they give prove justified a company with a capital of 6,000,000 francs will be formed to extend the acreage.

FOREIGN TROOPS GUARD TIENTSIN

Tientsin, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—Foreign guards tonight guarded Tientsin from an influx of wounded Chinese soldiers, formerly members of Wu Pei-fu's central government army.

Two shiploads of the men arrived this evening and moored their craft on the river bank adjoining the old Russian concession. After reports were received that even more of them were coming a Japanese destroyer was sent down the river to intercept them.

British troops tonight patrolled the Russian waterfront to keep the Chinese from landing, while American troops took charge of the opposite bank of the river, in the former German concession to prevent any attempted crossing.

Because most of the Chinese in the two ships are wounded, it was said to be probable that Tientsin foreign authorities would permit them to be removed to the city, first disarming them. Wu Pei-fu, who is preparing for military action to regain the position he recently lost, that of military dictator of the central government at Peking, today issued a formal order directing that the Bank of China pay all salt revenues to him personally instead of to foreign banks in accordance with the terms of the reorganization loan agreement. (The agreement, signed in 1913, made the salt duties security for the $25,000,000 loan.)

The manager of the Bank of China reported Wu's order to the foreign consuls, who immediately lodged a formal protest against the diversion of the revenues with General Wu.

Reports were received late today that fighting had broken out at Tang-shan. The Chihli troops retreating from Lianchow where the Manchurians defeated them, were reported concentrating at Tangshan. Important coal mining center, in a former dispatch.

Trouble also has broken out again at Tangku, 27 miles by rail from here, where many of the troops brought by General Wu from Chinwangtao, following the overthrow of the Peking government and the dismissal of Wu as commander-in-chief, were landed. Ten thousand troops there are said to be out of hand.

In the face of such situations, the foreign guards here are being increased steadily. Two American destroyers from Taku, bringing United States marines, and an American gunboat, are expected here tomorrow. In addition, a contingent of British marines is expected from Weihaiwei (Shantung) on the British government steamship.

Latest reports from Chinwangtao said the recent war port was quiet.

PARSON AND AFFINITY TO BE TRIED TOGETHER

Mount Vernon, Ill., October 31.—Circuit Judge J. C. Kern today overruled a motion of Mrs. Elsie Sweeten for a separate trial on the indictments which charge her jointly with Lawrence M. Hight with the murder by poison of their mother.

The date of the trial was set for November 17, but defense attorneys announced they would file motions asking that the case go over until the January term.

Candidates' Views On Civil Service Are Made Public

Washington, October 31.—The national civil service reform league tonight issued the following statement: "The national civil service reform league, following its custom in the past, made inquiry of the leading candidates for president as to their respective attitudes toward the merit system."

"The following statement was received by the league this afternoon from John W. Davis: 'I take great pleasure in stating that I am in thorough accord with the pledges of the democratic party to comply with the spirit as well as the letter of the civil service law and to extend the provisions of the civil service to officers and employees of the government not in executive positions. Let me say further that I am absolutely opposed to the abuses now existing in certain federal departments whereby the selection of the eligibles from civil service lists is controlled by unbusinesslike political methods.'

"In view of the fact that President Coolidge has indicated to officers of the league in personal interviews his sympathy with objects of the league, he was not asked for a written statement at this time. In his last message to congress, President Coolidge when he advocated the civil service classification of presidential postmasters and employees of the prohibition enforcement unit said: 'The best method of selecting public servants is the merit system.'

"No statement has been received by the league from Mr. La Follette."

SPORTSMEN TO LIVE IN FLOWER VALLEY RINGED WITH ICE

Seattle, Wash., October 31.—A sub-tropical valley in northern British Columbia just south of the Yukon territory border, ringed in with glaciers and perpetual snows, is to be colonized next year by wealthy Vancouver (B. C.) sportsmen and mining men, according to S. C. Scott, the discoverer, who was in the city today after spending three years there.

"The valley is 480 miles inland, almost inaccessible and contains abundant game," said Mr. Scott. "The temperature never gets below zero and freezing temperature is rare. Grass, hay, berries and wild fruits grow in profusion. It is about twenty miles long and two or three miles wide. 'I encountered several species of wild animals never seen before. The most curious was a large white deer weighing about 600 pounds. It had a horn on one side of the head. A series of hot springs on one side of the valley are responsible for the mild winters and long pleasant summers. The soil is very fertile.'

BRAZILIAN REBELS VOICE THEIR AIMS

Buenos Aires, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—The aims of the Brazilian rebels in the southern state of Rio Grande do Sul have been made public in a proclamation issued at Uruguaiana.

The rebels demand that the powers of the federal government to decree a state of siege be restricted and ask that the legal authorities of the country be placed upon an exclusively federal basis. Another demand is the abolition of the fiscal revenues of all Brazil, the proceeds of which, the rebels declare, should be distributed among the different states and municipalities proportionately in accordance with their respective contributions after provision has been made for the federal government.

Advices from the border say the Rio Grande outbreak started at Uruguaiana and Sao Boaria and was followed by similar uprisings in many interior towns, including Santa Maria, which was a federal military headquarters, and Cachoeira, Alegrete and Bage.

The river Uruguay is patrolled by numerous naval launches but many fugitives have managed to cross over into Argentina.

The main rebel forces in the state of Parana are said to be encamped along the banks of the Parana river from Iguaazu as far north as Guayra. A federal force proceeding against them must penetrate extensive forests.

PHONE RATE ADVANCE IN MARYLAND UPHOLD

Baltimore, October 31.—Judge Charles F. Stein in circuit court today upheld the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company's plan for an increase in rates effective at midnight tonight.

Judge Stein overruled a demurrer by the public service commission and the national telephone subscribers' association and said that an injunction would be signed restraining the commission from interfering with the higher rates.

The commission had ordered the present rates continued until January 31, 1925 pending an investigation by the commission of the rate situation.

Linwood L. Clark, counsel for the People's Corporation and the federation of labor, wrote to Governor Ritchie today asking him to call a special session of the legislature to amend the public service commission law so as to give the commission power to suspend rates.

MRS. WARREN HARDING IS REPORTED IMPROVED

Marion, Ohio, October 31.—The condition of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of the late President, who has been ill suffering from general exhaustion at the Sawyer home at White Oaks Farm, near here, today was reported improved.

A complete rest has been prescribed by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, former personal physician to the late president, a few weeks ago, considerable concern has been felt regarding the health of Mrs. Harding.

Los Angeles, October 31.—Arrested here last week in an alleged attempt to rob a diamond broker's office, Albert L. M. TURCO-GREEK CLASH SETTLED BY LEAGUE

Brussels, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—The conflict between Turkey and Greece over the exchange of populations was settled today by the council of the league of nations by the adoption of a report drawn up by Viscount Ishii of Japan.

The Ishii report asks the mixed commission which controls the exchange of populations between the two nations to meet immediately and to settle all of the outstanding questions arising from the recent arrest of Greeks in Constantinople.

The report emphasizes the council's pleasure over the fact that both Greece and Turkey have agreed to recognize the plenary authority of the commission and remarks that if any juridical question arises in the future, it can be referred to the world court of justice either directly or through the council.

Asking the commission to render periodic reports to the council on the progress of its work and urging both Greece and Turkey to execute loyally the convention for the exchange of populations, the report declines to express any opinion on the recent arrests of Greeks in Constantinople.

Inasmuch as Greece and Turkey had raised the general question of the treatment of minorities, the council asked both governments to submit to the council at its December meeting in Rome reports on the situation of the Greek minority in Constantinople and the Turkish minority in western Thrace.

The president of the mixed commission who arrived here today from Constantinople seemed indignant that the council had interfered in the question of the arrests of the Greeks and frankly told the council that the commission was quite capable of attending to its own business.

Anglo-Mexican Break Hurts Britain Most, Says Calles

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, October 31.—The relations of Mexico with both Great Britain and the United States were discussed by Plutarco Elias Calles, president-elect of Mexico, at a conference with newspaper correspondents today after he had come to Washington from New York for a visit of several days.

Received at Union station upon his arrival by representatives of the state department and the Mexican embassy, the president-elect called upon Secretary Hughes and then President Coolidge at the white house. He was the guest at an official dinner tendered by Secretary Hughes at the Pan-American union tonight and will be the guest of President Coolidge at luncheon tomorrow.

No Enmity for Britain.

Discussing conditions in reply to questions by correspondents, General Calles declared that there exists no enmity between the people of Great Britain and Mexico, and asserted that what unpleasantness has occurred is due to the "dishonesty, falsehood and misrepresentation of one of Great Britain's representatives in Mexico."

The president-elect added that by this he did not refer to H. C. Cummings, the British charge des archives, whose expulsion from Mexico caused the interruption of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The Cummings case, he said, was a closed one, as Mexico would never yield to Great Britain on it. The interruption of commercial relations with England, in his opinion, he declared, was a question of greater interest to Great Britain than to Mexico. General Calles said he had not come to any conclusion as to whether a conservative government in England would be more or less favorable to the summing relations with his country than a labor one.

U. S. Relations Cordial.

Relations of Mexico with the United States, the president-elect said, were "excellent, most frank and cordial." The interchange of activities between the two countries, he added, was ever increasing due to "a growing cordiality, understanding and friendship."

Asked whether application of the Monroe doctrine might affect the Mexican-British tangle, he replied that "Mexico is a sovereign country and will discuss its own questions."

He declared himself in favor of a Pan-American policy as of great advantage to all countries concerned.

Outlining his future policy as president of Mexico, General Calles said he would strive above all for greater education among all classes of Mexicans as well as the general economic betterment of the people of Mexico.

Praises U. S. Officials.

It was said later at the white house that President Coolidge feels the internal conditions of Mexico and that country's relations with the United States are better than for many years, and that as a result America may well regard recent developments in the relations between the two countries with much satisfaction.

Speaking of his impressions of Washington and his formal call, General Calles at his newspaper conference referred to President Coolidge as an "impartial, honest, honorable and straightforward man." Secretary Hughes, he added, had impressed him as "straight, honest, frank and inspired by a great sense of justice."

A General Calles will leave here Monday for New Orleans en route to Mexico.

PROTOCOL RATIFIED BY CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Brussels, October 31.—(By The Associated Press.)—The first official ratification of the league of nations protocol on arbitration and security has been made by Czechoslovakia. Paul Hymans, president of the council of the league, announced this afternoon before the council.

M. Hymans voiced the satisfaction of the council and expressed the belief that Czechoslovakia's action assured well for the general approval and success of the protocol, which is the first move toward the projected disarmament conference.

DANICO IS INSTALLED AS PRESIDENT OF CLUB

A. T. Danico, manager of the L. F. M. store, was installed as president of the American Business club at a banquet Friday night at the Peacock cafe.

Mr. Danico has been in Atlanta since January. His home originally was in Pennsylvania, where he was well known in club circles. He was a charter member of the Foursquare club there and a leader in other organizations. Since his connection with the American Business club, he has served on various committees and rendered splendid service. He succeeded Russell Baker as president of the organization.

Other officers installed at the meeting were: H. E. Stangreave, who succeeded Joseph Lazear as first vice president, and J. Henson Tatum, who succeeded H. C. Holbrook as second vice president. E. E. Ruffin and E. O. Johnson were installed for additional terms as treasurer and secretary, respectively, after having been re-elected unanimously.

Other features of the banquet were musical selections by Miss Nora Allen, lyric soprano, accompanied by Jimmie Finley on the piano, and addresses by Russell Baker, retiring president, who spoke to the newly-installed officers, and by Joseph Lazear, who praised the work of the retiring officers.

A dance and Halloween party followed the banquet.

SERVICE STRESSED IN REED'S ADDRESS

Joseph H. Reed, president of Reed Tire company, and also president of the Atlanta Masonic club, was the principal speaker at a meeting Friday of the service committee of the chamber of commerce.

"Service" was the keynote of Mr. Reed's address, in which he discussed the importance of the chamber's full cooperation in all movements beneficial to the city's progress. He complimented the work of the chamber in various movements that it has undertaken and said the organization was the "hub of the wheel" in upbuilding Atlanta. The Community Chest was commended by Mr. Reed, who said it was one of the most beneficial movements that civic organizations of the city could possibly foster.

DAVIS VOTE ASKED BY HARRIS

Calling upon Georgia democrats to support a record-breaking popular vote for John W. Davis for president at the election next Tuesday, United States Senator William J. Harris gave a statement Friday.

Senator Harris pointed out that Mr. Davis "is southern by birth, association and tradition—the second southern man to receive the nomination for president in seventy years."

The senator's statement, in full, follows:

To My Fellow Democrats of Georgia:—It is appealing to my fellow democrats of Georgia to support the candidacy of John W. Davis at the polls next Tuesday. I am confident that this is a southern birth, association and tradition—the second southern man to receive the nomination for president in seventy years. He was born within the shadow of Stonewall Jackson's birthplace, and received his education at Lexington, whence the lives and characters of Lee and Jackson furnished inspiration and example. It is my firm conviction that if Mr. Davis is elected president he will go down in history as a statesman much as Lee and Jackson did as military generals.

No man ever nominated for president has enjoyed qualifications equal to those of Mr. Davis, whose career of public service stamps him as a man whose heart beats in harmony with that of the masses of the people, and whose impulses are all for the good of the nation. As a member of congress he was ever the friend of labor, and as a collector general and ambassador to the Court of St. James his service marked him as a man unusually well equipped in the sciences of law and the art of the statesman. Every person should realize the importance of the popular vote on next Tuesday. Should the election be thrown into congress, the vote of the people as expressed at the ballot box will have a tremendous influence. The solid south has it within its power to contribute immeasurably toward the election of a southern man, and it is my sincere hope that Georgians will manifest in loyal legions to a great man and a great cause.

Let every democrat in the state go to the polls and vote for the democratic electors.

PRETTY WEATHER TO LAST LONGER, FORECASTER SAYS

Though the weather Atlanta is now experiencing is almost too pleasant and warm to be seasonal, there is no indication of any change in the near future.

C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the U. S. weather bureau, gave out a prediction Friday afternoon for Saturday which reads: "Fair; slightly warmer. Fair weather will continue."

The temperature Friday ranged from a low of 54 in the early morning hours, to a high of 75 in the afternoon. The United States and the United States reporting freezing weather.

Man Who Was Shot Twice Is Arrested Burglary Is Denied

A man giving the name of Arthur H. Bell, 32, a farmer of 199 Brownwood avenue, was taken into custody Friday afternoon at his residence following his admission that he was the man fired upon as a burglar five times Wednesday night in the home of R. W. McArthur, 119 Summit avenue. Bell denied he had entered the house for the purpose of burglary. His arrest followed a mysterious telephone tip given to plainclothesmen J. J. Cowan and B. P. Gillespie.

Nursing a severely injured left hand, Bell was found by the arresting officers in his East Atlanta home after Mrs. Bell was called to have denied his presence in the house. Later they were allowed to enter. Bell was taken first to police headquarters and later to Grady hospital, where his hand was treated, and he is held pending an investigation.

Bell, it was said, at first denied any knowledge of having been shot in the McArthur home, declaring his wound was the result of an altercation with fellow workmen in Bolton. Further grilling brought the confession from Bell that the wound was the result of Mr. McArthur's first shot.

The injured man was quoted as saying five shots had been fired at him, one taking effect in his left hand, while another shattered the watch he carried in his vest pocket over the heart. The watch, which is an old-style, thick timepiece, was flattened by the bullet. Police declared the watch saved his life.

A statement of Bell that Mr. McArthur took a pistol and fired upon him when he (Bell) was found in his room, conflicts with the statement made to police by Mr. McArthur, who said he had taken the pistol from a mantel and shot after the intruder had attacked him with a claw hammer.

Policemen Goode and Bullard, who were called Wednesday night to investigate, followed a trail of blood for several blocks, but lost it when it ended suddenly on Jackson street.

"Big Top" Today Brings Joy To All Atlanta Youngsters

Scenes from the big Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, which appears here today.

CIRCUS DAY INFORMATION.
New Showgrounds—South side Highland avenue at Southern Railway bridge. Entrance on Highland avenue.
Transportation—Take Highland South Freeway downtown. Irwin-West Freeway cars also go to showgrounds. All cars marked "To Circus."
Performances—2 and 8 p. m. Doors open one hour earlier.
Tickets—On sale beginning at 9 a. m. today at Cable Piano company, 84 North Broad street. Yellow-ticket wagon continuously accessible for purchase of reserved seats at the show grounds. Red and white ticket wagons open simultaneously with the big show doors.
Arrival—Via Southern railway from Anniston, Ala. Unloading takes place directly at lot.
Departure—After night show via Southern for Greensboro, N. C.
Special Note—There will be no morning street parade. Note has been given by this circus since 1920.

There's only one thrill that the little boy you were carried over to the man you are, and that's the shivery, blissful anticipation of circus joy. If you have children of your own, you deck 'em out in their best clothes and take 'em down to see the "greatest show on earth." If you are single, you borrow somebody's youngster to take you to the circus.

That is the spirit abroad today, for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined aggregation of night wonders is coming to town. Packed to the roof and swarming with marvels, its hundred railroads are scheduled to arrive at dawn this morning from Anniston, Ala., coming over the Southern Railway bridge.

Unloading will take place on the spur track leading direct to the new showgrounds, situated on the south side of Highland avenue at the Southern Railway bridge. Ringling agents in Atlanta Friday stated they are well pleased with the new showgrounds. Not only is the lot of ample size to rare for the giant stretches of canvas, but it is closer to the heart of the city than the old Ponce de Leon grounds. Opening building operation, it is not impossible for the big show to place its tents on the old grounds, and only the smaller circuses now use it.

Here in 1922.

The Ringling-Barnum & Bailey combination was last in Atlanta in 1922. Those who visit the circus today will see vast changes. Not only has the big show grown in size, but it now boasts more star acts and attractions than ever before. It is claimed that the Ringlings this year are offering the finest entertainment ever presented under their banner.

Eight hundred artistic artists, recruited both from Europe and America, vie for honors with the finest aggregation of trained horses and performing jungle beasts ever assembled with a circus. There are troops of Tartarian stallions, twelve "Baby Bunting" elephants, which are pitted in performance against three herds of giant pachyderms, and dozens of other trained animals, ranging from doves and geese to Shetland ponies and zebras. Apart from these animals, are the thousands of the menagerie, including an entire family of giraffes, the only ones carried by any circus. Then there is "Big Bill," an enormous rhinoceros, and valued at $50,000. There are baby tigers and young lion cubs among the vast menagerie display.

A special menagerie attraction this season is John Daniel, a world-famous gorilla. Not only is he claimed to be the most valuable animal in captivity, but he is also the

No Pan-American Problem Follows Conference Here

Reference has been made in The Constitution as to the Pan-American Commercial congress recently held here, and indicating complications arising out of this congress.

The Constitution has ascertained and now gladly gives the facts concerning the congress.

All delegates from the United States and from the Latin-American countries paid their personal expenses as is always the case. The diplomats of these countries were invited to attend as guests of the congress and all these expenses have been paid, or approved for payment. If any representative from Latin-America who held credentials from his government as the substitute for the diplomat, such expenses will be paid covering traveling and hotel expenses for the days of the convention. There is no Latin-American problem.

Another Organization.
Reference was made to the effort of John King, of Virginia, to collect a sum from the Southern Commercial congress, an amount alleged to be due him on account as refund on a European commission conducted by the Southern Commercial congress. This matter may be tested out before proper tribunals, but it does not concern in any sense the Pan-American congress. The Southern Commercial congress extended by the mayor of the city and is a separate entity absolutely from the Southern Commercial congress. The Atlanta committee, composed of leading citizens, and through its proper officers, received all funds and disbursed all funds with no payment whatsoever to the South.

Waycross To Observe Confederate Navy Day With Sale of Tags

Waycross, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Saturday has been set aside in Waycross as "Confederate Navy Tag Day." Mayor Walker today issued an official proclamation, naming Saturday as the day upon which the people of Waycross will be called upon to support the movement.

Captain W. H. McElroy, aide to Admiral A. O. Wright, of the naval department of the United Confederate veterans, has opened an office and is making efforts to collect all available information regarding Confederate naval officers in Ware and neighboring counties.

Commercial congress and with Dr. Owens, its president, giving his services free to the city and the congress. The commission of which King was a member was the International Trade commission of the Southern Commercial congress under the chairmanship of Dr. Owens.

Resolution of Thanks.
The convention of the Pan-American Commercial congress unanimously adopted the following resolution: "That the thanks of the convention are tendered to Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Southern Commercial congress and presiding officer of the Pan-American Commercial congress for his uniform consideration of the Latin-American delegates and the delegates of the United States and his service throughout the sessions of the Pan-American Commercial congress held in Atlanta, Ga., October 1-4, and for his years of service in practical Pan-Americanism at home and abroad in the organized efforts he has put forth in cementing the ties of amity, comity and fraternity between the Americans and in establishing the commercial relations between the United States and the countries of the western hemisphere."

COL. P. H. BREWSTER BURIED WITH HONORS

With high officials of federal and state courts joining with friends in every walk of life and members of the immediate family in mourning his passing, funeral services for Colonel P. H. Brewster, prominent member of the Georgia bar, who died Thursday afternoon at his residence in College Park, were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the College Park Methodist church. The services were conducted by Rev. Irby Henderson, Dr. W. H. LaPrade and Dr. Wallace Rogers.

Business was suspended by federal, state and city courts so that Colonel Brewster's hundreds of friends and admirers at the Atlanta bar might have an opportunity to attend the funeral services.

Judge W. D. Ellis, senior judge of the Fulton superior court, paid high tribute to Colonel Brewster from the bench Friday morning, saying "he was a man of great learning and ability; with a superb idea of the rights of other people and great courtesy towards the bench and other members of the bar; a man who was a good soldier in time of war and a splendid citizen in time of peace."

Colonel Brewster held a commanding position in the Georgia bar for more than 50 years, 23 years of which he lived in Atlanta. He was recognized as dean of the Atlanta bar, having served as its president at one time and being its oldest member for many years.

LOCAL CHURCH CALLS REV. HAROLD SHIELDS

Rev. Harold Shields, pastor of the LaFayette Presbyterian church, of Richmond, Va., has been extended a call to the pastorate of the Gordon Street Presbyterian church of this city, according to announcement made Friday. He has been pastor of the Richmond church for the past five years, and has made an admirable record.

The congregation of the Atlanta church heard Mr. Shields' address it in 1918, and has had him under consideration for quite awhile.

No answer has been received to the invitation. Mr. Shields will announce the call to members of his congregation Sunday, but will not make a decision until he has had time to consider it thoroughly.

The vacancy in the pastorate of the Gordon street church occurred when the Rev. Robert M. Stinson, former pastor, accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church of Columbus, Ga., last April.

Ancient Scourge Terrorizes
GERMAN MEDICS FIND NO CURE FOR MALADY
Fisher Folk Along Haff Ba

Berlin, October 31.—An ancient scourge, whose origin is lost in the obscure medical history of centuries, long past, has descended on the tiny fishing villages along the curving shores of the Haff. Modern medical science has failed to diagnose the sickness. The fisher folk are starved

The disease is a form of paralysis and in the legends of the cold East

Frussian coast it is known as the "Haff malady." Once stricken with the disease, the fisherman must go out in their boats. Fishing is the only support along the shores of Haff bay, an inland arm of the Baltic. Several years ago the disease first appeared along the shores of the Haff. Since then it has spread all along the coast, and is now in the most piercing inland. The scourge struck suddenly and boldly, with symptoms heretofore unknown. Such as the fishermen during the sixteenth century. In 1529 this personage set down the symptoms of the malady, and the fisherman of the Haff. The symptoms as described in the Pomeranian diary are similar to some of those described by modern sufferers of the Haff.

During the middle ages science not so readily admit ignorance as it does today. The physicians of the time had a cure for the disease. "Haff" was mixed with butter¹ proved

New York, October 31.—Governor Alfred E. The cause of Mrs. Franklin's disappearance is unknown, and a search for her is under way. No one remembered seeing her after the shooting.

Harry cried. He went to the dining room, where he drew his revolver and pointed it at me.

"I screamed and Richard got the rifle and shot him. Harry had got threatened to shoot me before."

The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary.

Queer Sect, Leader Gone,
May Yield Rule to Young

Vancouver, B. C., October 31.—Above the lonely banks of the Kootenay river, in the simple houses of one of the strangest sects of the North American continent, the old men whisper anxiously, the young men eagerly, of the death of Peter Veregrin, one of the most picturesque and dramatic figures ever to have taken a place for himself in the making of a new world.

There has been explanation of the death of the old leader of the Doukhobors, who ruled as king among the strange, wide-eyed silent men and women he had led out of the heart of Russia.

There may never be an explanation, but the old men whisper, and the young men plan, for with the death of the leader the old regime of the Doukhobors is dying, and a new regime will be born.

When movements of freedom spread throughout Europe in the latter part of the nineteenth century, the Doukhobors arose in Russia. They were a religious sect, led by a woman. They did not believe in war or the taking of human or any other life.

When their chieftain died in 1886, Veregrin was called on as their leader, for he had been a sort of adopted son to her.

Veregrin himself was persecuted and more than once sent to the salt mines of Siberia. However, through the intervention of Count Tolstoy, in 1902, he obtained permission to take his followers out of Russia. He came to Canada and made arrangements for the settlement of his people in the province of Manitoba.

Seventy Thousand Followed.
 Seventy thousand of his people followed him to the new world. They the children of divorced parents, "The Law Forbids," a gripping story of infatuation and wrecked marriage, at the Rialto theater.

Trans-Mississippi States May Fool G.O.P., Says Daniels

Chicago, October 31.—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, visited democratic western headquarters today after several weeks' campaigning in the Trans-Mississippi region in behalf of Davis and Bryan. "There is not a single state west of the Mississippi which the republicans are sure of carrying," he said in a public statement.

"Throughout the west the conscience of America is aroused, and there is a determination that administration corruption shall not be blessed by the success of the corrupted political party."

The republican party sneered at the moral issue in the Newberry case, and voted in the senate to seat the senator from Michigan. Every senator who has stood for election since voting to seat Newberry has been defeated by the people whose ideals of government were trampled under foot.

"In this campaign the same policy is apparent in every republican endeavor. In Pennsylvania, where one Grundy has been soliciting campaign funds for the republican ticket, it is the undisputed policy of the campaign. In a letter of solicitation produced before the Borah committee, Mr. Grundy wrote without qualification 'American dollars will assure continuance of our form of government.'"

"So far as I have observed, this is the first official admission by the republican party that money is the supreme issue in the politics of the United States."

"The American conscience will be heard on that question."

Mr. Daniels is scheduled to speak tonight at Charleston, W. Va., and to wind up his campaign tour Monday night in his home state, North Carolina.

GEORGIANS JOIN IN CELEBRATION OF "APPLE WEEK"

Georgians began Friday to give whole-hearted cooperation to "Apple Week," a period of seven days set aside for the education of the public to the advantages of eating apples.

Atlanta cooperation has taken the form of a proclamation by the acting mayor of the city, J. L. Carpenter, who endorsed the movement, and of the promise of many Atlanta dealers to feature the sale of apples, especially those grown in Georgia, by putting on special sales.

U.S. REDEMPTION ENORMOUS LOAN

Washington, October 31.—The treasury has completed its plans for redemption of the loan of 1925—one of the issues of federal obligations used to secure national bank notes—and thereby is prepared next February to take the next step toward the eventual replacement of national bank notes by currency issued under the federal reserve act.

Announcement of the treasury's program was made tonight by Secretary Mellon as follows:

"The treasury announces that it has called for the redemption and payment on February 2, 1925, of the United States 4 per cent bonds of 1923, dated February 1, 1923, and that such bonds will cease to bear interest on that date."

Wipes Out $118,549,000 Debt.
 "In order to facilitate redemption, holders are urged to present their bonds well in advance of February 2 so as to insure prompt payment when due. This is particularly important with respect to registered bonds, as registration shall have been discharged by the treasury department division of loans and currency."

The call will end the life of $118,549,000 in federal securities. It also will force the retirement of an equal amount of national bank notes, issued since the bonds were sold, and widely over the country in perhaps five hundred different national banks. The banks now holding the bonds, however, have an alternative in that they may obtain through purchase other federal bonds bearing the circulation privilege and merely substitute the outstanding securities for those to be retired.

The loan for 1925 automatically matures next February, under its 30-year life, and the law providing for its retirement specifies that the treasury shall give three months' notice to the holders of the securities. The announcement of plans for redemption was made tonight in accordance with that provision.

Nearly $750,000,000 Still Out.
 In addition to the $118,549,000 to be paid off, there will remain outstanding bonds bearing the circulation privilege to the amount of almost three-quarters of a billion dollars. Six hundred million dollars in these securities—the 4 per cent consols—will mature in 1930, and the remainder fall due in 1936 and 1938.

As the maturing bonds are believed by treasury officials to be held in every section of the country, the amount of national bank note circulation to be retired in each locality is expected to be relatively small. Some officials believe the purchase of other federal securities to place behind their own currency issues.

$270,000 BOND ISSUE VOTED AT VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Valdosta today voted almost unanimously for an issue of $270,000 municipal bonds for the following purposes: For additional equipment for fire department, $15,000; for additional equipment for public schools, $10,000; for extending sewer system, $30,000; for water works, $65,000; for paving, $150,000.

A bond election a year ago was defeated, but there was practically no opposition in the election today.

Wheeler Scores Men Who Coerce Votes of Labor

Youngstown, Ohio, October 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—A final campaign was waged today in two states by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, independent Tennessean, against the men who coerce votes of labor.

He spoke before a large audience in Youngstown, Pa., and tonight spoke in this city, leaving before midnight by special train for New York city where he is scheduled to arrive on Sunday.

In both talks, Senator Wheeler took occasion to refer to published announcement that members of the central trade union of New York had declared their support for John W. Davis, the democratic nominee, in spite of the American Federation of Labor's previous position given the La Follette ticket.

"There's got to be a house cleaning within some labor organizations because there are a number of politicians calling themselves labor leaders," he declared, "who are merely selling out their own people."

He elaborated his view in a formal statement, naming the council, which said that its action "only emphasized the remarkable solidarity of labor in this campaign."

"The thing this campaign has demonstrated is the day of those labor leaders who undertake to deliver the votes of their line-paying members without consulting those members is past."

The statement said "only a few of such leaders remain, and they seem to have their headquarters in the New York trades council."

"We have no doubt as to the votes of the New York workers."

If necessary, this chart will be used four times, after which, should any ties remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

There are no ties on counting the Elephant, no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

This chart will be mailed to only those that tie, if there be any, after the closing of the elephant adding contest, November 8th.

Davis Points Out Reasons For Big Democratic Tide

New York, October 31.—In his fourth statement setting forth democratic views of campaign issues, John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, explained his reason "for the spirit of optimism outstanding today in the democratic camp."

Mr. Davis summed up what he said was the "cumulative evidence of the last few days," and took occasion to express his gratitude to "associates on the party ticket, for a well-defined movement which is bringing so many recruits to our ranks."

In part, the statement reads: "The steadily increasing support now publicly being pledged by so many who heretofore have been supporters of other candidates, or affiliated with other political parties, is extremely heartening. Men and women of every political faith are declaring that they intend to vote the democratic ticket next Tuesday."

"Of course, there is a reason—a real one. It is not far to seek. The campaign of evasion and deception conducted by the republicans in breaking down the vital issues of this campaign. Silence—their motto—has failed to convince. They have been unable to divert the people from the path of duty and their determination to have a clean, honest and efficient government."

In all sections, "From every section of the country these men and women who believe in integrity in government are pledging themselves to support the great doctrines set forth in our platform. They realize, full well, that on the tried and proven democratic party can secure that relief which is so necessary if this nation is to have restored to it a government responsive to the will of the people themselves."

"Yesterday the executive council of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York, an organization representing one-fifth of the entire membership of the American Federation of Labor, was good enough publicly to pledge its support to the democratic party. It recognized the fact that it can depend on the democratic party—when it is restored to power in Washington on March 4, next—to redeem all of its pledges and that Senator La Follette cannot possibly be elected next Tuesday. Yet this was only another chain in the sequence of events which started when the Hudson county, N. J., Jersey Trades Council, endorsed the democratic platform and its candidates. This was followed by the endorsement of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union; by the endorsement of a host of independent labor organizations; by the building trades organizations and numerous others. Now, right here in New York, where the issues are well understood, President Sullivan and his associates publicly proclaim that parties and men are to be judged by past performances."

G. O. P. Scarecrows. "I would like to assert, that the democratic party stands squarely on its record and my confidence in the intelligence and character of the American people persuades me that 'scarecrows' and 'bogey men' will not turn them from the path of duty. And it is not alone in the ranks of the workers that I secure my feeling of confidence of the result of the elections. Recall the list of republicans; of those of independent political affiliations; of the men and women from every walk of life who have announced their intention of supporting the democratic party at the polls next Tuesday and you have the compelling reason for the spirit of optimism outstanding today in the democratic camp. There has been an increasing realization on the part of the farmers that their only hope for badly-needed relief was in the democratic party. Merchants, clerks and business men generally also know that this is so."

"This nation is threatened today more by reaction and privilege than by radicalism. Radicalism, indeed, grows in proportion to the blind greed for money and the improper use of the power of money. I, therefore, call for volunteers from among all those who love their country more than party, who are influenced more by principle than by prejudice, and who have an abiding faith in the ideals which have made this nation morally and materially great, to be united in efforts to overcome the menace of greed and crass materialism."

No Confidence in G. O. P. "Our prosperity is, indeed, threatened, not because the republican tenure of office is menaced, but by the undermining of confidence, for which the office is menaced, by the undermining confidence, for which the Coolidge administration is responsible. There can be no healthy prosperity with confidence, because confidence is the foundation of prosperity. This administration which seeks a continuance in power has not only undermined the confidence of the people in their government, but by the passing of dividends, the reduction of wages and the increase in unemployment show, the prosperity of the country has already begun to diminish. Confidence can only be restored, extreme radicalism can only be avoided by removing those who place material above moral values."

"There are those supporting the La Follette ticket who prefer revolution to remedy. To them I have nothing to say. The great majority, who are undoubtedly sincere, were led to believe that the surest way to defeat Coolidge was to vote for La Follette. I call to their attention the hopelessness of their fight. I remind them that they are for subtracting from the great force opposed to the Coolidge administration, the administration will be voted out of power next Tuesday. Of that I am sure there is no question."

SAY DANGER REMOTE IN TETRAETHYL GAS

Washington, October 31.—Investigation by chemists of the bureau of mines into the effects of fumes from commercial gasoline containing tetraethyl has indicated that the danger of poisoning from such gases is extremely remote.

It was pointed out that the death of five men at the Standard Oil company of New Jersey laboratories was due to poisoning encountered in the manufacture of concentrated tetraethyl, a product not sold to automobile owners except when so diluted that the mixture contains only one part tetraethyl lead to one-thousandths part of gasoline by volume.

The bureau's experiments were to ascertain any health hazards in the use of anti-knock motor compounds treated with tetraethyl, and involved the exposure to ethyl gasoline fumes of various types of animals—more than 100 in all, including guinea pigs, rabbits, dogs and monkeys.

"After a period of approximately eight months daily exposure to fumes filled air stronger than exists in ordinary street traffic," the bureau said, "there was no indication of lead poisoning. The animals continued to grow and mature at normal rate."

"Further observations made on man showed that most of the lead in exhaust gases coming from ethyl gasoline when inhaled was again exhaled. The animals were observed throughout the entire test period of eight months for symptoms of lead poisoning, as colic, paralysis, loss of appetite and loss of weight. Also a careful examination of the blood was made for characteristic symptoms of lead poisoning. At various times animals were killed and the entire tissues examined for effects of lead and analyzed for stored-up lead."

TETRAETHYL GAS BANNED IN PHILADELPHIA. Philadelphia, October 31.—Sale of gasoline containing tetraethyl was banned today by the board of health following similar action in New York and several New Jersey cities.

Dr. Wilmer Krusen, director of the city department of health, pointed out that the tetraethyl gasoline should not be confused with a commercial ethyl gasoline sold at motor filling stations.

CHICAGO EXPERT TO INVESTIGATE. Chicago, October 31.—Dr. Herman N. Bunsen, health commissioner of Chicago, today began an investigation of tetraethyl gas as compounded with gasoline for motor cars. The commissioner said there had been no reports of injurious effects from the gas here to date.

RESERVATION INDIANS DEFY U. S. DRY AGENTS. Syracuse, N. Y., October 31.—Indians on the Onondaga reservation near here, who were served with federal warrants yesterday after a raiding party for alleged liquor in their homes, failed to appear before U. S. commissioners here today.

The Indians contend that their reservation is inviolate from intrusion by federal prohibition or other officers.

Chief Marie Buckland, in charge of the local prohibition enforcement officers, said conditions at the reservation are "intolerable."

URGENT EXPERT TO STUDY STREET DUPLICATIONS

Names of Atlanta streets and the system of house-numbering now in use here are causing endless confusion and inestimable cost, the city planning commission was told Friday at a public hearing on the situation, held in the council chamber at city hall. The session was attended by about 25 representatives of civic and business organizations, as well as a number of individuals who were interested in streets which may be subject to changes of names.

The only practical method of correction, speakers said, lies in employing an expert to make a detailed survey of conditions and report to the planning commission so that changes may be recommended. A committee also was appointed to submit a concrete proposal to the planning commission, which will embody many suggestions mentioned at Friday's meeting.

No definite action will be taken by city authorities until more detailed reports can be obtained, it was indicated by the planning commission.

A special committee of the commission, named to study the situation, failed to submit a report and asked additional time to investigate. In all probability the commission will prepare recommendations to be submitted to city council at a meeting November 17.

Reports presented the commission Friday stated that there are as many as 60 streets with duplicate names, although data compiled by E. W. Tarras, engineer and secretary to the planning commission, show that only 25 are duplicated. Other reports indicated that almost 600 streets in Atlanta and neighboring municipalities have similar names.

Among organizations represented at the meeting were the Atlanta Women's club, Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph company, postoffice department, Atlanta Real Estate board and a number of the city's leading department stores.

This administration which seeks a continuance in power has not only undermined the confidence of the people in their government, but by the passing of dividends, the reduction of wages and the increase in unemployment show, the prosperity of the country has already begun to diminish. Confidence can only be restored, extreme radicalism can only be avoided by removing those who place material above moral values."

The great majority, who are undoubtedly sincere, were led to believe that the surest way to defeat Coolidge was to vote for La Follette. I call to their attention the hopelessness of their fight. I remind them that they are for subtracting from the great force opposed to the Coolidge administration, the administration will be voted out of power next Tuesday. Of that I am sure there is no question."

TETRAETHYL GAS BANNED IN PHILADELPHIA. Philadelphia, October 31.—Sale of gasoline containing tetraethyl was banned today by the board of health following similar action in New York and several New Jersey cities.

Dr. Wilmer Krusen, director of the city department of health, pointed out that the tetraethyl gasoline should not be confused with a commercial ethyl gasoline sold at motor filling stations.

CHICAGO EXPERT TO INVESTIGATE. Chicago, October 31.—Dr. Herman N. Bunsen, health commissioner of Chicago, today began an investigation of tetraethyl gas as compounded with gasoline for motor cars. The commissioner said there had been no reports of injurious effects from the gas here to date.

The Indians contend that their reservation is inviolate from intrusion by federal prohibition or other officers.

Chief Marie Buckland, in charge of the local prohibition enforcement officers, said conditions at the reservation are "intolerable."

 One of the most important dramatic events of the season in Atlanta will be the appearance at the Atlanta theater for three nights beginning Monday night, November 3, of the celebrated stars, Margaret Anglin and William Faversham, who are making a transatlantic tour in the comedy of "Foot-Loose." Miss Anglin and Mr. Faversham are two of the foremost artists on the stage today and the appearance of either one should be sufficient to pack the theater. But appearing together as they will in this instance the occasion should be notable as one of the highlights of the season. The celebrated stars are provided with very colorful and richly dramatic roles, and the audience may justly look forward to a memorable evening in the theater. Seats for the engagement are now on sale.

Queer Sect, Leader Gone, May Yield Rule to Young

Doorkhobors Perplexed by Strange Death of Old Patriarch

Vancouver, B. C., October 31.—Above the lonely banks of the Kootenay river, in the simple houses of one of the strangest sects of the North American continent, the old men whisper anxiously, the young men eagerly, of the death of Peter Veregin, one of the most picturesque and dramatic figures ever to have taken a place for himself in the making of a new world.

Veregin, the old leader of the Doorkhobors, died in a mysterious train explosion near Nelson, B. C. He was buried Friday, when, through pouring rain, fantastically-clad folk, chanting old Russian hymns, poured by a window in Grand Forks, through which could be seen the leader's body lying in state.

There has been no explanation of the swift death which overtook the patriarch, who ruled as king among the strange, wide-eyed silent men and women he had led out of the heart of Russia.

There may never be an explanation, but the old men whisper, and the young men plan. For with the death of the leader, the old regime of the Doorkhobors is dying, and a new regime will be born.

When movements of freedom spread throughout Europe in the latter part of the nineteenth century, the Doorkhobors arose in Russia. They were a religious sect, led by a woman. They did not believe in war or the taking of human or any other life.

When their chief died in 1880, Veregin was called on as their leader, for he had been a sort of adopted son to him.

Veregin himself was persecuted and more than once sent to the salt mines of Siberia. However, through the intervention of Count Tolstoy in 1902, he obtained permission to take his followers out of Russia. He came to Canada and made arrangements with Sir Wilfred Laurier, then premier of Canada.

Trans-Mississippi States May Fool G.O.P., Says Daniels

Chicago, October 31.—Joseph Daniels, former secretary of the navy, visited democratic western headquarters today after several weeks' campaigning in the trans-Mississippi region in behalf of Davis and Bryan.

"There is not a single state west of the Mississippi which the republicans are sure of carrying," he said in a public statement.

"Throughout the west the conscience of America is aroused, and there is a determination that administration corruption shall not be blessed by the success of the corrupted political party."

"The republican party sneered at the moral issue in the Newberry case, and voted in the senate to seat the senator from Michigan. Every senator who has stood for election since voting to seat Newberry has been defeated by the people whose ideals of government were trampled under foot."

"In this campaign the same policy is apparent in every republican endeavor. In Pennsylvania, where one Grundy has been soliciting campaign funds for the past three months, it is the undisputed policy of the campaign. In a letter of solicitation produced before the Borah committee, Mr. Grundy wrote without qualification 'American dollars will assure continuance of our form of government.'"

"So far as I have observed, this is the first official admission by the republican party that money is the supreme issue in the politics of the United States."

"The American conscience will be heard on that question."

Mr. Daniels is scheduled to speak tonight at the University of W. Va., and to wind up his campaign tour Monday night in his home state, North Carolina.

GEORGIANS JOIN IN CELEBRATION OF "APPLE WEEK"

Georgians began Friday to give whole-hearted cooperation to "Apple Week," a period of seven days set aside for the education of the public to the advantages of eating apples.

Atlanta cooperation has taken the form of a proclamation by the acting mayor of the city, J. L. Carpenter, who endorsed the movement, and of the promise of many Atlanta dealers to feature the sale of apples, especially those grown in Georgia, by putting on special sales.

Several of Atlanta's largest department stores have their windows decorated with displays of special booths in Georgia apples next week.

The movement for celebration of "National Apple Week" is receiving impetus everywhere, according to W. G. Merrin, of the Atlanta Produce club, in charge of the movement in Georgia.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO WILLIAM O'CONNER

Savannah, Ga., October 31.—(Special)—The funeral of William E. O'Connor, whose sudden death in Lake City, Fla., while on a visit there for treatment at the government hospital, was held here this afternoon. His death created intense sorrow in Savannah. Mr. O'Connor was for years secretary of the board of purchase of the city, and the flag of the city hall flew at half-mast two days in honor of him and Halma Iversen, another member of the board who died Wednesday night. Mr. O'Connor died suddenly from heart trouble. He was a World War veteran.

MRS. NEVILLE ROLFE SPEAKS AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., October 31.—(Special)—Mrs. C. Neville Rolfe, O. B. S., of England, spent today in Savannah as a guest of the local League of Women Voters, speaking twice upon general participation of women in public affairs and with special reference to welfare work. She came to Savannah from Richmond, Va., and is en route to the National Social Hygiene conference in Cincinnati in the middle of the month.

U. S. REDEMPTION ENJOINS US LOAN

Washington, October 31.—The treasury has completed its plans for redemption of the long-term 1927 issues of the federal obligations and thereby is prepared next February to take a big step toward the eventual replacement of national bank notes by currency issued under the federal reserve act.

Announcement of the treasury's program was made tonight by Secretary Mellon as follows:

"The treasury announces that it has called, for redemption and payment on February 2, 1925, the United States 4 per cent bonds of 1925, dated February 1, 1905, and that such bonds will cease to bear interest on that date."

Wipes Out $118,549,000 Debt.
 "In order to facilitate redemption, holders are urged to present their bonds, well in advance of February 2 so as to insure prompt payment when due. This is particularly important with respect to registered bonds, as redemption of such bonds requires registration shall have been discharged by the treasury department division of loans and currency."

The call will retire the life of $118,549,000 in federal securities. It also will force the retirement of an equal amount of national bank notes, issued against the bonds now scattered widely over the country in perhaps five hundred different national banks. The banks now holding the bonds, however, have an alternative in that they may obtain through purchase other federal bonds bearing the same circulation privilege and merely substitute the outstanding securities for those to be retired.

The loan for 1925 automatically matures next February, under its 30-year life, and the law providing for its retirement specifies that the treasury shall give three months' notice to the holders of the securities. The announcement of plans for redemption of the bonds is in accordance with that provision.

Nearly $750,000,000 Still Out.
 In addition to the $118,549,000 to be paid off, there will remain outstanding bonds bearing the circulation privilege in the amount of almost three-quarters of a billion dollars. Six hundred million dollars in these securities—the 2 per cent consols issued in 1909, and the remainder fall due in 1936 and 1938.

As the maturing bonds are believed by treasury officials to be held in very small numbers, the amount of national bank note circulation to be retired in each locality is expected to be relatively small. Some officials believe the actual retirement in February will be materially reduced, as many of the banks, they said, already have anticipated the retirement and have purchased other federal securities to place behind their own currency issues.

$270,000 BOND ISSUE VOTED AT VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., October 31.—(Special)—Valdosta today voted almost unanimously for an issue of $270,000 municipal bonds for the following purposes: For additional equipment for fire department, $15,000; for additional equipment for public schools, $10,000; for extending sewer system, $50,000; for water works, $65,000; for paving, $150,000.

A bond election a year ago was defeated, but there was practically no opposition in the election today.

Denies Labor Council HAS ENDORSED DAVIS

New York, October 31.—The action taken yesterday in the name of the central trades and labor councils, endorsing John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, was not taken by the council itself, but by several members of its executive committee, according to a statement issued today by Norman Thomas, socialist nominee for governor. Mr. Thomas said the council had endorsed Senator La Follette and had held no meeting to reconsider that endorsement.

"What has happened," said Mr. Thomas, "is that a group of members of the executive committee of the council, acting late in the campaign, when their action cannot possibly be considered by the council, came out for Davis."

"A very definite report came to me some days ago from a source I have reason to believe reliable to the effect that the action of the Building Trades Council in endorsing Davis and Smith was based on a promise of a pardon for Brindell (former business agent of the council serving a term in Sing Sing for extortion) as a Christmas present."

Camden, N. J., October 31.—Probably the first republican congressman to admit that he would vote for John W. Davis if the election should be thrown into congress and it should be found impossible to reelect President Coolidge is Representative Francis F. Patterson, Jr., of the first New Jersey district.

However, Patterson says he doesn't think the election will ever be put up to the house because he believes Coolidge will be elected Tuesday with votes to spare. And even if Coolidge should not carry the popular election, Patterson said, he would vote for Davis only if it were agreeable to the national and state republican committees.

Patterson is a lieutenant of former United States Senator David Baird, recognized political boss of southern New Jersey.

MOROSE MOTHER WHO SLEW FOUR HANGS HERSELF

San Marcos, Texas, October 31.—Although she had confessed to murdering her four step-children and admitted feeling arsenic to her second husband, Mrs. Anna Hauptrief, a farmer's wife, chose death in preference to having her unborn babe come into the world in the shadow of prison bars.

As authorities wrote "finis" to one of the strangest criminal cases in the state's history, they reviewed the equally perplexing case of the woman, since she was brought here pending trial in February.

Upon being arrested Mrs. Hauptrief, calmly admitted poisoning the children because "I wanted them out of the way."

She administered small doses of arsenic to her husband, an invalid for life as a result of the efforts, for the same reason, she declared.

Yet she nurtured a fierce love for the unborn child of the father whom she had tried to murder. Every day since her incarceration she spent in her cell patiently working on pretty little clothes for the child, until a few days ago when prison companions said she became more sullen and quiet than ever before. She would talk to no one, ate very little of the prison fare and dropped all her work on the clothes.

Knowing her to be subject to these "spells," authorities said they paid little attention to her.

When guards conducted their daily inspection of cells Friday, they approached the one occupied by Mrs. Hauptrief and found her body on the floor.

A strip of clothing which had been tied together to make a noose, told the story.

Include the figures in the groundwork under the elephant

THE PROBLEM: What is the Sum Total of the Figures Forming the Elephant? Include the Figures in the Groundwork Under the Elephant. Simply Add Them Up to Get the Solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "0's" or "10's." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of the Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina, may take part in this contest; except employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the three amounts stated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION WILL BE REGISTERED.

3. Only one prize will be paid to any person, household or group of persons working together. When, in the judgment of the contest manager, two or more solutions have been copied or worked in collusion, such solutions may be rejected by him and the subscription money refunded.

4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide any questions which may arise that are not covered by the published rules, and those entering this contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.

5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Atlanta Constitution office on or before 9 p. m. Saturday, November 8, 1924. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted if rules governing same are complied with. This contest extends from Sunday, September 28, to and including Saturday, November 9, 1924.

6. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions, and another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. If ties still result, as many as four tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should tie still result each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.

7. This contest is open to both new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rates of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions not accepted in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in full at once. When sent through an agent no commission can be deducted.

8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying a carrier or agent by the week or month, may send or bring direct to The Constitution a three, six or twelve month payment with the solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent, must be paid to him, as the remittance sent us will date from the day it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present paid date of expiration.

The contestant can have solution credited in his or her name and paper sent to some other party. Two six-months' subscriptions at $5.00 each equal to one yearly subscription. One six-months' subscription at $5.00 and two three-months' subscriptions at $2.50 each, total remittance, $10.00, equal to one yearly or two six-months' subscriptions.

DECIDING TIES—IF ANY

In case of ties, those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary, this chart will be used four times, after which, should any ties remain, each contestant will receive full value of his prize tied for.

In case there are no ties in counting the Elephant, no other puzzle of course, will be presented.

This chart will be mailed to only those that tie, if there be any, after the closing of the elephant adding contest, November 8th.

THE PRIZE LIST

Note.—The value of the first nine prizes depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution on the puzzle. The amount paid will be applied to Daily and Sunday. Daily only subscription payments will not be accepted in this contest. Tri-Weekly subscriptions not accepted.

FOUR HORSEMEN WILL NOT START AGAINST TECH

Tech High, Decatur Win Prep Gridiron Battles

Marist and University Go Down for Count; Boys' Hi Game Postponed

BY GORDON KEITH.

The Boys' High-G. M. A. game, one of the season's really classic battles, was postponed until Tuesday because of the funeral services of Colonel P. H. Brewster, of G. M. A., who died Thursday. In the two games played Decatur handed the visiting Windsor eleven a neat 14-13 beating on the Decatur campus, and the University Bluebirds, playing their last home game of the 24 season, dropped an exciting grid game to the Georgia Tech third or four varsity 7-6, at Grant field.

Decatur supporters underwent several seconds of genuine agony in the closing minutes of Friday's game when an accurate kick would have meant a tied score after Windsor had opened up a forward passing attack in the final ten minutes of the last quarter and scored two touchdowns and kicked the first goal. Wilkins, however, and the home eleven were spared a tied score in a game that was theirs by every right of good football.

Cochran's men scored their first touchdown in the first five minutes of play by displaying a drive and push after receiving the kick-off that advanced the ball yard after yard until Edwards circled left end for eight yards and touchdown on a fake back. He kicked goal.

In this opening rush Decatur played a great game and completely bewildered the visitors' defense with the variety and force of the home eleven's thrusts. Windsor tightened, however, and placed the Decatur eleven on even terms for the remainder of the period and half. The Decatur team opened a second great drive with the help of the slugging Edwards, who grabbed a yard after yard until he slipped on the Windsor goal on a wide end run. Edwards again kicked goal.

Take It Easy.

The home eleven began to take it easy after several substitutions were made. The game rocked on until only ten minutes were left to play when Windsor started the slugging Decatur secondary defense with a pass attack that was completely bewildering as it was successful. W. R. Perry, fullback, scored the first touchdown when he was thrown over the goal. Wilkins kicked goal.

The visiting eleven, desperate and willing to take any chance, continued their overhead attack to advance the ball after the kick-off to the Decatur five-yard line. W. R. Perry plunged through the line, after two unsuccessful fumbles, for the second score. The Decatur forwards rushed Wilkins on his attempt to add the extra point, and the visiting back missed his goal by heart-breaking narrowness.

It was a great rally, and came near evening the score for the plucky eleven. Decatur played a great game when it wanted to, putting up an impregnable defense and showing a powerful drive, but the team didn't seem to think it necessary to all to play that type of game except in spurts.

Decatur Played Best. However, with the exception of the last quarter, the Decatur goal was never in danger and the game was played for the most part in Windsor territory. The home eleven really scored a third touchdown when Jackson blocked a kick and recovered behind the goal, but Decatur was off-side and the score did not count.

Edwards, Decatur quarterback, played a good game and made several pretty runs besides running his team well and backing up his side of the line in very effective fashion. Hensler ran wild around the ends and Captain Jackson played his usual consistent game at center. W. R. Perry was the outstanding star of the visitors' attack, and high-point man of the day. Standall, at end, also played a good game.

The line-up and summary: DECATUR (14) Pos. WINDOR (13). Dabner J. L. Perry McCurdy J. L. Perry Steele J. L. Perry Jackson J. L. Perry Dillard J. L. Perry Proctor J. L. Perry Whitehouse J. L. Bluebirds Lose Close One. University and Tech had a great battle of it on Grant field and the 7-6 score just represents the closeness of the two teams' abilities and scrappiness. The Bluebirds scored first when Spear, all-prep tackle, scooped up a Jacket fumble on the 20-yard line in the first quarter and crossed the Tech goal. Miffin missed his try for point on a drop-kick. The Tech jump shift went right in the second period and McCray, fullback, drove over the Bluebird goal after an intercepted pass had placed the ball on the 10-yard line. McCray kicked goal, and won the game for the home stayers on the Tech squad.

The game rocked on through the second quarter, and the second half, with neither eleven getting within the enemy's 20-yard line. Passes were few and far between, neither making making a marked advance with this method of attack. The game was a battle between jump shifts of the type Tech made famous, the Bluebirds using this type of offense about as effectively as the Tech eleven.

Butler was the offense star for Coach Phillips' team, his punting being an especial feature. Spear and Captain Malby played good games in the line, and Jacobson's end was something that was not circled by the Tech backs. For the Jackets, McCray played the best brand of ball, with Jamieson and Holland putting up good games along with him in the backfield.

The line-up and summary: UNIV. (6) Pos. TECH (7). Freeman J. L. Perry Spear J. L. Perry Courney J. L. Perry Dicker J. L. Perry Timmons J. L. Perry Jacobson J. L. Perry Butler J. L. Perry Medlin J. L. DARLINGTON MARIST. Home Ga., October 31.—(Special.) The Marist college eleven from Atlanta was taken completely off its feet here this afternoon by the scrappy Darlington High team, and was sent back home with a 31-0 defeat against them.

Coach Bell's men were dumb-founded at the playing of the local eleven, and were unable to solve the tricky plays they pulled. The commission today declared in disfavor Frankie Carpenter, who fought McTigue at Providence, R. I., on Friday night. Coach Malone, who fought Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, at Newark, the same night, likewise was declared in disfavor. Managers of both Carpenter and Malone were placed in a similar predicament.

As neither the boxers nor their managers hold licenses in this state they cannot not be licensed in the event they apply for a license it will likely be withheld.

TECH HIGH. Augusta, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Tech High, of Atlanta, ran roughshod over the Richmond academy eleven here today, piling up 35 points to none for the home eleven.

The visiting team outplayed the home in every department of the game and had things its way from the opening whistle. Thompson and Randolph, Smith's backs, were the bright lights of the game, both stars running wild and gaining yardage galore through the Cadet defense.

Thompson, all-prep half, made the prettiest run of the year when he twisted and sprang his way through the entire Richmond team for 75 yards and a touchdown. The Tech High defense was impenetrable, and the Cadet backs were able to amass only three first downs during the entire game. The entire Tech High team played a 30-yard line, the entire game being played within the home eleven's territory.

The air game was tried with but little success by either team, and end runs and line backs were used by both offenses as their main attack. The entire Tech High team played a good game, and although coach used every man who made the trip, the Smith attack and defense were excellent.

SPEED OF MAN O'WAR PASSED DOWN

New York, December 31.—The flashing speed that stamped Man O'War as one of the greatest thoroughbreds of all time has been passed on to another generation.

Seven of the eight offspring of Samuel D. Riddle's famous horse that have come to the races this year have registered 13 victories during the eastern season that is drawing to a close. Not one has resorted either to a claiming or selling race in establishing this notable record.

By himself, which this week scored his second stake victory and fourth triumph of the season, is the most prominent of Man O'War's get in training. This strapping colt looms as a strong contender in the $50,000 Pimlico future next week and is expected to be groomed for the 1925 Kentucky derby.

First Mate is the only racing progeny of Man O'War which has not yet won a race and this chestnut colt will have an opportunity at Pimlico to make his famous sire's 100 per cent.

American Flag, another promising juvenile, has won three races. Maid at Arms has captured two, while Flax Ship, Light Ship, Florence Nightingale, and Gun Boat also have added lustre to their sire's fame with winning performances.

Thirteen colts and fillies were foaled by Man O'War in his first season in the stud but one died and four more either were injured or failed to train.

M'TIGUE BACKS DOWN AGAIN. New York, October 31.—Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion of the world, who has declared his intention of demanding a license today from the state athletic commission and of suing the body for $250,000 if it rejects his application, did not appear before the commission. No reason was given.

The commission had advised its license committee to refuse McTigue's application for one year because of his failure to recognize the right of Gene Tunney, designated as logical challenger by the commission, to the first chance at his title.

The commission today declared in disfavor Frankie Carpenter, who fought McTigue at Providence, R. I., on Friday night. Coach Malone, who fought Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, at Newark, the same night, likewise was declared in disfavor. Managers of both Carpenter and Malone were placed in a similar predicament.

As neither the boxers nor their managers hold licenses in this state they cannot not be licensed in the event they apply for a license it will likely be withheld.

ZBYSZKO MEETS GARDINI ON MAT

Philadelphia, October 31.—Wladek Zbyszko, Poland; Renato Gardini, Italy, and Frank Judson, America, were the victors tonight at the national heavyweight wrestling tournament, which was resumed after a three-day rest for the grapplers.

Zbyszko, three times world champion, won his match against Gardini, Italy, with an arm and leg hold in 24 minutes, 47 seconds; Gardini threw Nick Lutz, Notre Dame coach, with a headlock in 21 minutes, 7 seconds, while Judson pinned Regd Siki, Abyssinia, to the mat in 46 minutes, 52 seconds with a body scissors and wrist lock.

Gardini and Zbyszko will meet in the final match tomorrow night. The winner will be declared by the state athletic commission to be the foremost challenger for the world's title held by Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

Coach Abbott stated that the men would be taken to the field immediately after dinner so as to limber up their muscles and that they would be given a short signal drill. Athens, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) Twenty-two husky grid representatives of Tennessee arrived in Athens Friday morning, ready and anxious for the tilt with the Georgia Bulldogs today.

FORMER FOOTBALL STARS INJURED. Athens, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Harry Woodruff, former football star at Georgia university, and brother of George Woodruff, Georgia football coach, is seriously injured at a local hospital late tonight following an automobile crash about 10 o'clock on the Bankhead highway.

Jim Woodruff, another of the brothers and an ex-star of Auburn, was cut and bruised, and the color bone of Alfred Young is believed to be broken. The party was en route from Columbus to the Georgia-Tennessee game here tomorrow.

Jess Kelly, also of Columbus, only member of the party who was unhurt, hailed a passing car and the injured were brought to a hospital here. Doctors could not make a thorough examination of the extent of the injuries of Harry Woodruff, on account of their seriousness, they believe, however, that his spinal column is affected and possibly broken.

The car is said to have left the road at a curve and to have turned over twice. The left side of the machine was demolished. Harry Woodruff was driving. The accident occurred about 12 miles from Athens on the Atlanta road.

Throng Arriving. Throng for the homecoming events

'BAMA READY FOR 'OLE MISS'. Montgomery, Ala., October 31.—(Special.)—Alabama's Crimson Tide and the Ole Miss eleven staged light workouts here today in preparation for the annual clash at Tusculum Bowl Saturday. Coach Wade's men are in excellent condition for the fray, but injuries are liable to cause a change in the regular lineup of the invaders.

Although the Crimson are rated easy favorites in Saturday's clash, Coach Barnard, of Ole Miss, has his hand of scrappers in a fighting mood and they are determined to make the going rough for the Tusculum club. The Mississippi team limbered up at Maxwell field, local veteran aviation camp, this afternoon, while the tide was going through its paces at the Montgomery Country club.

Practically the same lineup that faced Georgia Tech a week ago will start the game for Alabama. One change in the line and a possible backfield switch are the only notable differences. Ole Miss will have practically her full strength to put against the Wade team.

Zbyszko, three times world champion, won his match against Gardini, Italy, with an arm and leg hold in 24 minutes, 47 seconds; Gardini threw Nick Lutz, Notre Dame coach, with a headlock in 21 minutes, 7 seconds, while Judson pinned Regd Siki, Abyssinia, to the mat in 46 minutes, 52 seconds with a body scissors and wrist lock.

Magnus Johnson Forced To Fight For Senate Seat

Minneapolis, Minn., October 31.—Magnus Johnson knows what a real campaign is now.

The Minnesota farmer-labor senator who rode into the senate on a special election landslide more than a year ago, has been working like a lever to retain his seat. It is generally believed that he will do so.

"It's harder work than working on the farm," he said Friday. "But I'm working for the people and I'm satisfied."

His renomination in June was easy. Senator Johnson swept the state. At that time the republican party was widely split over its primary candidates. The democrats were quiescent.

Since the primary, however, republican harmony was restored, and with only a few exceptions leaders of the party are working in unison for entire ticket, including Thomas D. Schall, blind congressman, who is ard for Senator Johnson's seat.

For the first time in many years democrats got together and entered a complete ticket. J. J. Farrell is the democratic candidate for senator.

JATTIS WINS DISTANCERUN AT TECH

H. C. Jattis won the annual Tech freshman cross-country run Friday afternoon, covering the mile and a half course in 7 minutes, 59.25 seconds. A. McConnell came in second, with N. A. Little a close third.

More than 80 freshmen entered the run and 75 of those 80 finished the course, which is unusual in cross-country races.

The run started from Grant field at 4:30 o'clock and extended through the swamps back of the school out Hemphill avenue towards the water works and return, covering a distance of more than a mile and a half.

The freshman run Friday afternoon was the first of a series of cross-country races to be staged by the Tech yearlings and will be known as the Willis-Brooks races. There will be five in all, with each race longer than the preceding one, making the last one a distance of three and a half miles.

Jattis will receive a gold medal, and McConnell will be awarded a silver medal for their efforts in winning the first of the freshman races.

The winner of the final race of the Willis-Brooks races will receive a handsome silver trophy together with a gold medal and will also be awarded a Tech freshman track letter.

WASHINGTON HI BEATS MONROE

Washington, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Washington High completely outplayed Monroe High here today, winning by a score of 31 to 0. Washington made 21 first downs with a total gain of 529 yards, while Monroe made eight with a total gain of 98 yards.

Monroe attempted five passes, completing two for a total of 18 yards, while Washington completed five out of nine for a total gain of 144 yards. Nash and Jackson, in the back field, and Lunceford, on the line, were the shining lights for Washington. Caldwell, for the losers, played a splendid game. Venable, fullback for Monroe, who will be heard from when he enters college should be continued to carry on as he did in the game here today, was the outstanding star for Monroe High.

DAVIDSON TIES CAROLINA STATE. Pinehurst, N. C., October 31.—State and Davidson played here this afternoon to a 10-10 tie in the hardest fought football game between the two institutions in years. Davidson averaged 20 pounds a man lighter than the Wolf Pack, but made up for the difference with a series of remarkable forward passes and excellent line defense work.

FORREST HILL GOLFERS TO DANCE SATURDAY

An informal Halloween dance, with special music and refreshments, will be arranged by the new Forrest Hill Golf club for Saturday night. Members of the newly organized club are bringing as many friends as they desire.

After running down the field under punts and promiscuous passing, the varsity went into a snappy signal drill, just as the green-jerseyed Rockne team was taking the campus field to run down under punts and run signals.

Rockne's Four Horsemen will not start the game, as this starting lineup shows. When they get into the game later on, one will be missing. He is Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback, who was hurt a couple of weeks ago. The other three will go into action with Croley and Don Miller, halfbacks, and Elmer Layden, fullback.

Captain Adam Walsh will not play under any circumstances. Coach Rockne declared tonight. He has two broken hands, souvenirs of the last two games against the Army and Princeton. "Walsh wants to go into action tomorrow and play, and he could, but what's the use of taking chances for the rest of the season?" was the way Rockne put the situation today as far as Walsh is concerned. Harmon, who will start for Notre Dame, is considered much inferior to the fighting Irishmen's pilot. Edwards, a sophomore, who takes Stuhldreher's place calling signals and engineering that great trio of backfield men that will be sent into action probably at the beginning of the second quarter.

Rockne's plan of starting his second string men showed its soundness of principle in that game two weeks ago when Notre Dame beat the Army. In the first quarter the Army charged down on Notre Dame with a force that literally crushed the Irish line-up. In the second quarter the first team was sent into the fray. Fresh, these regular stars battered down the Army and when the game was over Notre Dame was victorious.

Jackets and Irishmen Have Stars in Hospital; Tech Is Still Hopeful

BY GEORGE CONGDON. Sporting Editor, Constitution. South Bend, Ind., October 31.—(Special.)—On the eve of the annual classic with Notre Dame, Georgia Tech's fighting blood is up as it never has been before this season. When the scores come in tomorrow night from the grid sessions of first importance and Notre Dame has another victory, give Tech credit for going down to defeat gloriously. No admonition to raise a Biblical character by the name of Cain at Five Points is necessary from us or any one else if Tech wins.

Today's wide from Logansport, Ind., into South Bend and the snappy workout on Carter field this afternoon by the Jackets did not pull on the Tech men. Instead, they struck a feeling that added to the indications that inspired football will be the brand for tomorrow afternoon when the Tornado meets the Fighting Irishmen of Notre Dame.

The line-up that Coach Alexander of Tech will start against Notre Dame tomorrow afternoon is as follows: Johnny Marshall, left end; Joe Esry, left tackle; Walt Godwin, left guard; Owen Poole, center; Six Carpenter, right guard; Captain George Gardner, right tackle; Monk Nabbie, right end; Craig Wilton, quarterback; the Williams and Vaughan Connolly, halfbacks, and Doug Wycoff, fullback.

Three men who have been playing the last couple of Tech games are out for tomorrow. They are Gus Merkle, star left end; Reeves, flashy halfback, and Fred Moore, clean-running quarterback.

A lineup that is crippled as badly as Tech's is that which will be available for Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's great coach. Rockne said tonight that his starting lineup tomorrow will be as follows: Collins, left end; Bach, left tackle; Weibel, left guard; Harmon, center; Kiser, right guard; Rip Miller, right tackle; Hunsinger, right end; Edwards, quarterback; Hauser and Correll, halfbacks, and Cerney, fullback.

Rockne's Four Horsemen will not start the game, as this starting lineup shows. When they get into the game later on, one will be missing. He is Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback, who was hurt a couple of weeks ago. The other three will go into action with Croley and Don Miller, halfbacks, and Elmer Layden, fullback.

BRILLIANT HALLOWEEN PARTIES CENTER SOCIETY'S INTEREST

Lovely Girls Are Presented At Driving Club Dinner-Dance

The Halloween ball at the Piedmont Driving club Friday evening, the formal ball opening of the club, and the introduction to society of the 21 charming debutantes of the 1924-25 season, was a most brilliant event.

The club throughout was most beautifully decorated in Halloween suggestions. Autumn leaves and yellow and white chrysanthemums formed a lovely setting for this beautiful affair.

The ballroom presented a scene of mysterious enchantment with its fascinating decorations of black cats, pumpkin heads and grotesque silhouettes of witches riding on broomsticks.

Elaborate Decorations

Each table held as a central decoration a large pumpkin filled with yellow chrysanthemums, and unique favors and ornaments carried out the Halloween idea. The large table at which the debutantes were seated was placed at the far end of the ballroom. After the other guests were seated, the debutantes, with their escorts, entered, presenting an entrancing picture in their dainty and colorful gowns, which enhanced their fresh young beauty. Lovely corsage bouquets lent a pretty contrast to their pastel shades.

As has been the custom for many years, the Halloween ball last evening introduced the lovely group of girls who will make their debut this winter.

Warner's Seven Aces furnished the music, and the latest selections of dance music were played.

Several hundred guests assembled on this brilliant occasion.

All eyes were turned to the debutantes' table, the most prominent and largest of the evening. Covers were laid for Miss Harriet Shelden, Miss Valeria Manley, Miss Constance Cone, Miss Ida Sadler, Miss Louise Nelson, Miss Callie Orms, Miss Algen Harris, Miss Margaret Street, Miss Tealide Pratt, Miss Corday Rice, Miss Catherine Raine, Miss Mary Ann Lipscomb, Miss Ellen Newell, Miss Ethel Hunter, Miss Elizabeth Harper, Miss Rebecca Ashcraft, Miss Frances Webb, Miss Mary Ballenger, Miss Donna Stone, Miss Maria Brown, Miss Constance, John Grant, Walton Foley, Marshall Foster, William Sibley, R. REMARKABLE RECOVERY OF MRS. SPINK

Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Full Credit

Minnesota Junction, Wis.—"I was under treatment, but nothing seemed to help me, and I was run-down and so weak that I had to remain in bed much of the time and was like an invalid. I had pains in my abdomen and in the female organs, and my stomach bothered me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, thought it must be good, and brought it home to me and advised me to try it. After taking one bottle I was able to eat, and after six bottles I was doing my own work, which I hadn't been able to do for years. I have a new baby who is doing nicely, and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and feeling better than I have for four years. The medicine is surely wonderful and a good thing to have in the house."—Mrs. GEORGE SPINK, Minnesota Junction, Wisconsin.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of the Compound reports 98 per cent. benefited.

Some Absurdities in Woman's Dress

BY JULIA HOYT

Summer furs in boiling weather, says Julia Hoyt, are positively heating to the observer.

(Copyright, 1924, in U. S. and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Woman's dress has never been distinguished by its logic or appropriateness. Although we still retain many incongruities, in certain ways we have become, to my mind, much more sensible in the last few years. Who of us would willingly return to the days of tight lacing, or the days when we swept up the filth and dirt of the streets with long and absurd dresses and trains? To a certain extent our change of life and interests has changed our dress. In days gone by, women were much more indolent, exercised very little, and, of course, took hardly any part at all in business or sport.

But today we see absurdities of a different sort. One thing which I must confess that I practice as much as anyone else, is muffled one's ears in furs on a cold winter day, yet wearing the only thinnest kind of silk stockings and low leather slippers. I follow this custom for a number of reasons, which I presume are the same as those of many others. Why, I can't say, but my ankles and legs never seem to feel cold if I am otherwise warm. Besides, I can't bear the feeling of spats and heavy stockings. Consequently, even though I may look absurd, I excuse myself, saying that I am not suffering.

One custom of the last few years which seems to me ridiculous is the wearing of straw hats by women in the middle of January or beginning of February. Straw hats are shown on sale in the stores for the winter, and people who are departing for warm climates. They are certainly not intended for wear in snow storms and freezing weather, and I cannot see the advantage of trying to change the seasons by our apparel. We have plenty of time in which to wear straw hats without having to be so inappropriately covered in cold weather.

But the most generally followed and flagrant example of the absurd and illogical is the use of furs during the winter. I have often been amused to watch women on a hot August day, quite evidently and unattractively hot in appearance, clinging (because they undoubtedly think it smart) to a large fur neckpiece. It certainly does not look smart, and is, to my mind, extremely unattractive. The thing to try for in the summer, I have always believed, is an appearance of coolness. It is not only pleasant for ourselves, if we are cool, but it is charming to the people who have to look at us. That is one reason why people who are unfortunate enough to be in mourning in the summer have difficulty in dressing, because black is an extremely hot color, and no matter how cool the dress actually may be, it gives an impression of heat.

It would interest me to know what started this custom of wearing furs in summer. It is quite true that in

News Notes From Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN.

Rex Ingram, the photoplay director who is responsible for "discovering" Valentino and Ramon Navarro, has at last succeeded in his wish to film a picture with Antonio Moreno in the lead.

Ingram is sure that "Tony" is just the type he needs for the male lead in Blasco Ibanez's story, "Mare Nostrum," which he is filming in Europe, and so the popular Antonio is buying steamer robes and traveling bags and packing up preparatory to leaving these United States for his first trip abroad in ten years.

Most of the production will be made in the star's native country, Spain. "I had planned to visit my mother in April," he said recently, "and now will be able to hasten the trip."

ANTONIO MORENO. Moreno, who incidentally is his business manager, will accompany her husband.

Born in Madrid, Moreno came to this country when he was 14. He played on the speaking stage with such well-known celebrities as Mrs. Leslie Carter, Tyrone Power, Constance Collier and Wilton Lackaye. He was first engaged in picture work by Vitagraph to play in their serial thrillers, and he says that he considers the training he received the best possible for later starring roles.

"Secret of the Hills" and "A Guilty Conscience" are two of the thrillers he made for Vitagraph who were said to pay him the highest salary ever paid to a serial star. He has been under contract with Paramount for the last two years, playing "A Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Buff" with Agnes Ayres, "Tiger Love" with Estelle Taylor and "Story Without a Name" and "Border Legion" with Helene Chadwick. He is now completing his part with Constance Talmadge in "Learning to Love."

Joseph Lincoln's famous novel, "Dr. Nye," will appear on the screen as "Idle Tongues." No, we don't know why. Percy Marmont is the doctor.

"Cheap Kisses" is the alluring title of a new picture to be produced by C. Gardner Sullivan, who is also the author. It is said to be in defense of the so-called "flaming youth" of today. Lillian Rich, Vera Reynolds, Cullen Landis and Lincoln Sirdman are among the popular young people in the cast.

You'll see "the homeliest baby in Hollywood" in "Worldly Goods," starring Agnes Ayres. Paul Bern, the director, ordered Tom Waite, casting director at the Lasky studio, to get him the homeliest baby and White got it. He didn't tell us what he said to its mother.

Tom Terriss, director of "The Bandolero," visited with several state-ly duennas while filming scenes for his picture in Cordoba, Spain. Now Tom has decided that chaperonage is the proper thing for young girls and intends to lecture on the subject via wireless and on the platform. Flappers, beware!

Judge Henry Neil, "father" of the mothers' pension movement in the United States and Great Britain, has gone into the movies, temporarily. He was first engaged in picture work by Wallace Reid's new picture, "Broken Law," that he offered to take the part of the judge in the production.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

To Remove Rust. If your pet knife becomes badly rusted, cover it with thick sour milk and let it remain overnight. It will clean quite easily by morning.

One good housewife raves out some of the good linen threads from her worn-out table linen and winds them on a large spool. Then, when she has mending to do on her other table-cloths and napkins, she has thread that will mend and blend neatly.

Just Jottings. One cup of unsifted flour makes almost 1 1/2 cups of sifted flour. Cool food before putting it in the refrigerator and keep down the ice bill.

A slice of bread in the box with the doughnuts will keep them soft and light.

Wash and dry the electric washer and wringer rolls when the laundry is finished.

A few current magazines are welcome additions to the guest room.

Swains in meadows. Break your slumbers. Saucy Lydia, now but seldom. Ay, though at our easement nightly, Tapping loud, tapping lightly. By the dozens once ye held them. Ever turning. Night and morning. Sewing your dear upon its hinges: Now, from dawn till evening's closing. Lone and desolate reposing. Not a soul its rest infringes. Serenaders. Sweet invaders. Scatter proof, and daily scander. Singing: "Lydia, art thou sleeping? Lonely watch thy love is keeping!" Wake, O, wake, thou dear enchanter.

Lorn and faded. You, as they did. Woo, and in your turn are slighted: Worn and torn by passion's fret. You, the pillowed coquette. Waste by fires yourself have lighted.

Foster Parents Get Custody of Boy, 7, 10 Months in Year

Waycross, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—A consent judgment was rendered this morning by Judge J. L. Sumner in the case which was centered around the custody of Gerald Dryden, 7, who has occupied the center of public attention in Waycross county for the past several weeks.

A compromise was reached regarding the custody of the child, between Mrs. Anna Halstead, who claims to be the mother of the boy, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, who claim to be foster parents of the little boy.

The boy will live with the Hamiltons ten months out of the year and will spend the remaining two months with his mother at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. B. Hickox, at Hot-soken.

The case has attracted statewide interest, due to peculiar circumstances involved and the claims of the contesting parties.

Mrs. Halstead, who was formerly Mrs. Dryden, of Brunswick, claims that the child was stolen from her home seven years ago. The Hamiltons claim that the child was given to them by the mother. The child was found playing on the grounds of the Astoria school several weeks ago and was taken by Mrs. Halstead. Hamilton preferred kidnapping charges against Mrs. Halstead but later withdrew the charges.

ESCAPED CONVICT SOUGHT IN HANCOCK

Sparta, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Hancock county officials are scouring the county for Joe Peyton, long-term burglar convict, convicted in Hancock superior court several years ago and sentenced to serve on the public roads of this county. Authorities in nearby counties have been furnished descriptions of Peyton.

The escape is mysterious. The county board of roads and revenues has offered a reward for his capture.

BATS SOCIAL CLUB AT EMORY ELECTS EIGHT NEW MEN

Emory University, Ga., October 31. (Special.)—Wandering about the campus wrapped in sheets and carrying various symbols of the organization, eight initiates of the "Bats," an Emory university social club, have been initiated during the week. The total number in school has been brought up to 25, the membership limit.

Some of the neophytes carried brick-bats, carefully housed in bird-cages, while others kept the brick-bats suspended by strings from baseball bats.

The "Bats" is a social club, with the purpose of promoting a better feeling of friendliness and fellowship between members of different fraternities.

The new members are L. M. Reeves, Sigma Nu; Dick Sackett, Chi Phi; Dick Smith, Chi Phi; Allen Moore, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Jimmy Wall, Kappa Alpha; Joe Holmes, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Lowry Davenport, Phi Delta Theta; Harry Howell, Phi Delta Theta.

Active members in school are Willis Wamell, Godfrey Trammell, Marion Watson, Truman Allen, Jimmy Boring, Ralph Dupree, Joel Hunter, Dick Harwell, Henry Miller, Ralph Quillian, Frank Rowsey, Emerson Gardner, Preston Arkwright, Misses Fitzhugh, Leonard Lyons and Harry Rogers.

FOX FIRING APPROVED AT BAPTIST MEETING

Arlington, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—A resolution upholding the action of the board of trustees of Mercer university in the dropping of Dr. Henry Fox was passed by the Bethel Baptist association in its 92nd annual session which was held in Georgetown Tuesday and Wednesday.

There were more than 750 delegates in attendance. The $75,000,000 campaign committee report announced that of the $100,000 pledged by the churches of the association over $83,000 already has been paid.

WAYCROSS-BRUNSWICK HIGHWAY IS PLANNED

Waycross, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—W. R. Neel, state highway engineer, while in Waycross Thursday following a road meeting held in Nahant, Wednesday, said that the state highway department is preparing to construct one of the best roads in the state between Waycross and Brunswick.

The project, Mr. Neel stated, is one of the largest ever undertaken by the department.

"It will be impossible to complete the road in less than three years, as only a limited amount of state funds will be available for the road each year," he said.

The purpose of the highway department is to construct a first-class road between Waycross and Brunswick, at an estimated cost of $100,000. The construction of the highway will necessitate many miles of grading and also the rebuilding of a bridge spanning the Satilla river.

With its completion there will be a road from Savannah to the Alabama line, passing through Brunswick and Waycross. Construction of the Savannah-Brunswick stretch of the highway is already under way, and rapid progress is being made.

Beautiful fur trimmings are seen on most of the coats, such as squirrel in natural grey and dyed tones; beaver, seal, mink and muskrat. A few models have self collars.

BEAUTY CHATS

AN OBSTINATE COMPLEXION.

In my opinion, an obstinate complexion is one that will not stay clear no matter how much attention is paid to it. If you have this sort, you probably need to take agar-agar.

Have you a bad skin? Have you tried dieting? Nowadays so much is written about proper foods that everyone must know how to eat to have a good complexion. But if, in spite of good food, cleansing creams, of exercise and of fresh air, your skin stays muddy, then you must try agar-agar. For it is probable that the trouble lies in some form of constipation.

Such a condition often exists unsuspected for years. The eliminative system of the body is so complicated that it is easily upset. If it does not function almost perfectly, the least of the resulting troubles will be a sallowness, or a greasy one (for the skin then must throw off more than its proportion of waste matter from the body) or large pores or blotches under the skin's surface.

Agar-agar will probably set everything to rights. It is a form of seaweed, Japanese seaweeds some druggists call it. It comes in little transparent flakes, which when wet dissolve into a sort of jelly. But the stomach does not absorb any of it, it goes through the entire system, and passes off, gradually carrying poisonous matter away with it that often stays months in the body. Agar-agar cleanses the entire intestinal tract, and regulates it. Mineral oils are supposed to do this, and usually do, but agar-agar has never failed yet. Occasionally, laxative pills must be taken to clear the system of the mineral oil.

Try agar-agar if your complexion is not perfectly clear.

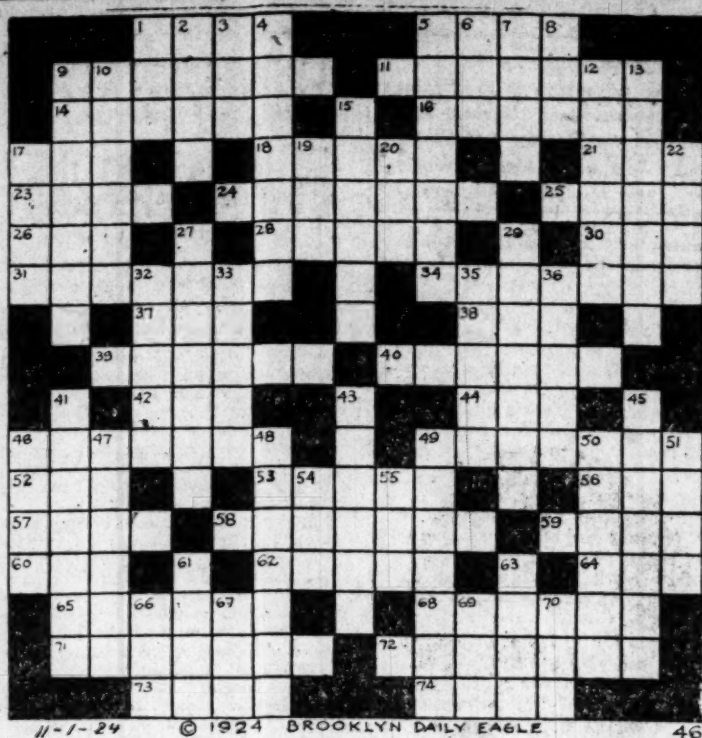

Anxious:—You will need a fine grade of olive oil if you use it on your face, but any grade will do for massaging other parts of the body; and you need have no fear of it growing hair in either case. The reason for using the finer grade cream for the face is due to its being more easily absorbed so that it will not have a chance to collect soil and coarsen the pores.

When using an egg for shampoo preference should be given to the yolk as it contains so much sulphur; but the white is also good for the scalp so if possible use the whole egg even if it amounts to so much that you have to wait for longer time to have it dry on the scalp before beginning to shampoo. A lather made from castile soap is a good choice.

R. C. K.:—Pimples comes from a poisonous condition, usually the result of poor elimination. You may rid yourself of them by changing your diet to include more green salads and fresh vegetables with less meat and heavy starchy foods.

All inquiries address to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

MY BEAUTY RECIPE

BY NEYSA McMEIN, as Told to Diana Dare.

Her two Persian cats were drowsily purring. One cat curled up in the paint box and fell asleep. The artist merely opened up another box and adapted another set of colors to the portrait.

A few visitors in her studio were playing the piano and banjo. Another one was reading a magazine. Miss McMein went on painting undisturbed. She was also being questioned about beauty. It was no new experience for her. She is consulted about the subject at every turn. Moreover, she has to make her own selection of models, the girls she thinks are beautiful, from thousands who apply to her for posing work.

"She dabbed paint here and there; then she surveyed the effect in a small hand mirror which reflected the vision in the large mirror on the wall. Between these two, eyes she sketched her answers. Sometimes the pauses between the painting, its surveillance and the remarks were lengthy. Here was the analysis of beauty, the selection of it; and the formation and creation of new beauty!

"Personally," she said, "I must admit that I prefer the looks that are accidental—the good looks of faces that just happen.

"If a woman has a good mouth she has 50 per cent of beauty. The mouth is the most important part of the face.

"Mary Pickford has as beautiful a mouth as any one would want to see. Alice Joyce has a beautiful mouth. By a good mouth I mean one that not only has a pretty shape, but that is firm and shows strength and good nature. The mouths of the girls which the popular artists of today paint are wide and large.

"The hair isn't important. All it needs is to be clean and well taken care of. I'll tell you about what I do feel strongly," she said. She paused in her work and brushed her hair against her smock. "That is plucked eyebrows and permanent waves.

"If I had my way there would never be another plucked eyebrow in the world. I would like to start a crusade against permanent waves. I think the way the country has been uniformed in bobbed heads, which are only becoming to a few rare types, is awful. And those awful artificial waves, wave on wave, which deceive no one!" She pushed back her hair, which is straight and remains straight.

"I don't know," she answered. "It just happened that is the kind I can paint. It was accidental. I told you I like accidental beauty."

When James A. Garfield was president of Hiram college, a man brought up his son to be entered as a student.

He wanted the boy to take a course shorter than the regular one.

"My son can never take all those studies," said the father. "He wants to get through more quickly. Can't you arrange it for him?"

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Garfield. "He can take a short course. It all depends on what you want to make of him. When God wants to make an oak, He takes a hundred years, but He takes only two months to make a squash."

At the entrance to the zoological gardens a man approached a keeper.

"Have you really got flying fish here?"

"Yes."

"I'll have to see 'em. Which is the way to the bird cages?"

Red Riding Hood

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

Mrs. Morgan Schuyler, one of New York's leading philanthropic and social lights, is a young woman in her apartment. The advertisement is answered by a girl evidently of birth and breeding. In spite of the fact that she admits a desire to hide her identity, Mrs. Schuyler accepts her on trust and tags her with the name of Hope Emerson.

Mrs. Schuyler's family consists of her mother, Mrs. Van Dorn; a young brother, Jim Van Dorn; and an older brother, Bertie, who is away.

The second morning of her employment Hope faints after receiving a mysterious telephone call. Mrs. Schuyler summons Dr. Horace Osborne. Hope tells the doctor that she is employed during the afternoon hours on East Seventeenth street. The doctor offers to drive her there. By a strange coincidence the doctor has an appointment at the house where Hope is employed. He has been called in consultation with two other doctors. The patient is a boy of five years about whom the entire household mysteriously revolves, the closest guardian is an uncle named Scarwenka. All of the members of this household are foreigners except Hope, who is known here as Sonia. A day or two later a mysterious visitor, Colonel Van Saanen, a man of obvious importance, calls at the Seventeenth street house. Hope distrusts him and she learns that Scarwenka does also. Van Saanen tells Scarwenka that he is going to take the boy away that night. Hope decides to call on Dr. Osborne for help. He accompanies her to the house on East Seventeenth street, where the two conspirators find Van Saanen there before them. By a trick the Colonel locks Hope and the doctor in the room with the child. Dr. Osborne and Hope take the child to a hospital.

INSTALLMENT XLII.

A THREATENED ELOPEMENT.

Hope drew a deep breath, which lifted and dispelled a weight that had lain on her heart since the night before.

"Thea Col. Van Saanen did not—he was not—,"

"He was not authorized to act as he did," Col. Vasali. "That is what I came to say. You would be anxious, naturally."

She told herself that this might be all she would ever learn, for here was a mind she could not read.

"I'm eloping tonight."

"Then I am expected to return to the house?"

"Yes, but for a short time only. We are leaving almost immediately. Be so kind as to come today at the usual hour."

She had risen, of course, when he did, and as they stood facing each other she realized that there was something very unusual about Vasali this morning. Heretofore he had been serious, almost, and at times almost somber. Now there was an effect of quiet exultation mingled with a deeper feeling she could not analyze. She hoped her next words would not annoy him, but in any event she must utter them.

"You will pardon me, Colonel, if I say that after this it will be impossible for me to work with Col. Van Saanen in any way, to see him or to be in the same house with him."

He made a gesture indicating the utter unimportance of Van Saanen.

"You will not see him again, mademoiselle."

"And the Tartar?"

"He is already at home. I reached the hospital early this morning and waited till the physicians came—the Dr. Osborne, is it not?—to whom we are also much indebted, and Dr. Phelps. They allowed me to take the boy away. It is better that he should be with us. I myself will remain with him until we leave."

"That will be such a relief!" She looked out at the world, radiant after the storm, and for an instant was touched by its glory. "Then, for the moment, Colonel, everything is as it was!"

"As it was, mademoiselle. Except that we realize how fortunate we have been in your cooperation. You have put us in your debt. Some day, if not now, we may be able to repay you."

He spoke slowly and almost stiffly, and his smile had disappeared. Without it and its afterglow he was the Vasali she had known.

"I'm very happy to have been of use," she told him, simply. "You know I love the Tartar."

"Yes, mademoiselle, I know," Vasali's brilliant eyes were very gentle. "He also loves you."

He held out his hand, and when she gave him hers his fingers clasped it in a strong grasp.

"You are always the soul of discretion, mademoiselle, and our confidence in you is absolute. But you will forgive me if I say that in this instance unusual caution is necessary."

"I understand."

"Again I thank you, mademoiselle." He bent and kissed the hand he still held closely in his. Some quality in his voice caught her attention and she looked at him quickly, but he had turned his head before she could see his expression. She glanced down, wondering if she had been mistaken in what she thought she had heard and felt. No, she had not been mistaken. Vasali was striding to the door, but she did not follow him. She remained where she was, as she realized that he wished her to do, and, standing there, she continued to look incredulously at the big drop of moisture on the back of her hand.

She knew now the nature of the suppressed emotion she had not at first understood. She was not the only person who loved the Tartar.

"Who was Santa Claus?" Sally demanded. "He kindly opened the door just as I was going to ring, so I skidded in, knowing you'd be enchanted."

"A friend of mine. Sit down, Sally; I hear you've been asking for me."

Hope sighed irrepressibly and Sally grinned with entire understanding.

"All that work to be done, and here's this imp," she interpreted. "However, you've got to have an earful, just the same. I'd spare you if I could, but it can't be done."

"Then make your conversation as comfortable as you can. But go straight to the point, Sally."

Hope sat down in her desk chair and glanced at the girl, at first indifferently, then with a sense of shock at the change in her. The pretty, reckless little face was actually haggard.

"I can't be comfortable," Sally muttered. "When you've made up your mind to commit suicide, you don't loiter around in easy chairs while you're kissing the workaday world good-by. At least I don't. I've got to stride about, for the way they do in the big scenes on the stage."

"Really, I'm not in the mood for this sort of talk," Hope told her. "Please get down to the point."

"All right—here we go," Sally perched on the side of the big flat topped desk at which the secretary was seated and opened her handbag. From its chaotic depths she extracted a lipstick and busily applied this to her lips as she went on.

"I'm eloping tonight. That is, I'm going to a man who won't marry me. Perhaps he'll think he has to, after I arrive, which explains what you might call my rash act. Meantime it will be up to you to calm my mother and father and Aunt Maud and Mrs. Van Dorn and Jim, and any other inquiring and grieving friends, and to keep them from rushing to the police or into the newspapers. That's why I'm telling you about it. One always has to have a confidante, you know, and you're it—in this little society drama."

"Child, are you mad? Or is this one of your crazy jokes?"

Hope spoke with weary distaste. Sally restored the lipstick to its case and stared down at her with bloodshot eyes.

"I'm mad," she said, "with love. I'm crazy about him. That's what's been the matter with me all along. He's been away. The only reason I didn't follow him was because I didn't know where he was. Now he's back and I know exactly where he is, so I'm off."

For the moment, at least, the flapper was in earnest. Those defiant, bloodshot eyes and that wretched face proved it.

"And you imagine that I'll let you go, after you've come here and warned me? You're even more foolish than I thought!"

Sally looked at her meaningly.

"Of course you'll let me. You can't help yourself. That's why I came to you. There are a lot of things you can do—afterward—things that will have to be done. You can't do a thing before, and—if you don't take care," she flippantly ended, "I'll tell you why."

"I shall be glad to have you tell me why," Hope brought out the words with patient tolerance. "If it's a threat you're making, Sally, you know it won't work."

Sally flushed and her eyes dropped from the secretary's.

"I'm a beast," she suddenly admitted. "But I've got something on you and it will make a difference, so I have to use it. All the fair in love and war, you know. I need your help, and I know all you'd do if I didn't muzzle you: you'd be to swing the stop signal."

"How do you plan to muzzle me?"

Sally grinned. As if a certain memory had strengthened her resolution, she again faced the other, with airy impudence.

"By a bit of hard luck for you and good luck for me, I happened to see you and Horace last night creeping into a dark house on East 70th street. I was dining at the house next door to it, and Wally Bryce and I were hoofing it there from the subway because we couldn't get a cab. We slowed up and followed you—"

PAVING AWARDS RECOMMENDED

Award of paving contracts for six streets, including Ponce de Leon avenue from Peachtree street to the Southern railroad, and call for a total expenditure of $86,404.88, were recommended Friday afternoon by the city council.

The Ponce de Leon contract was, of course, the largest, and paving of the 45,748 square feet will cost $50,472.40, according to the contract, which was awarded to the McDougal Construction company. The paving will be three and one-half inch asphalt on an eight-inch concrete foundation, and when completed will be one of the finest thoroughfares in the city.

Similar to Fifth Avenue.

The Ponce de Leon paving is similar to that used on Fifth avenue, New York, which supports the heaviest traffic of any street in the world, and Pennsylvania avenue, one of Washington's famous boulevards.

Paving of the street will be done under the baby bond plan, with property owners paying for the work. Payments will extend over a ten-year period. Under a ruling of the city attorney, the material now constituting the base for the old pavement must be used.

Paving of the street is due largely to the untiring efforts of Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward.

Special For Saturday and Monday Only

Unhealthy Flesh

Is the result of improper oxidation (burning up). We are taught that each day new tissues are formed in our bodies and at the same time worn-out tissues should be oxidized and eliminated. When oxidation does not go on properly these worn-out tissues accumulate and tend to obesity. Mountain Valley Water from Hot Springs, Arkansas, when properly drunk, seems to influence oxidation through its minerals which regulate the intake of nourishment and the outflow of waste of all the body tissues—it also assists the kidneys to eliminate poisonous substances which often cause ill feelings. Physicians prescribe this natural mineral water. Enjoy a case. Phone today.

Other Paving Contracts.

If city council follows recommendations of the streets committee at next Monday's meeting, the following contracts also will be awarded: Paving of 3,400 square yards on Ashland avenue between Hale and Lake streets, with extra vibratonic concrete, to cost $7,397.33, to Jamieson and Hall; 1,376 square yards of extra vibratonic concrete on Broomhead avenue between Lake and Oak streets, to cost $3,461.44; 2,556 square yards of extra vibratonic concrete, six inches thick, on Hale street between Lake and Ashland avenues, to cost $5,546.32; 2,881 square yards of extra vibratonic concrete on Lee street, between West End and Greenberry avenues, to cost $6,749.59, to Case and Cotnam; 1,700 square yards of extra vibratonic concrete on North avenue between Boulevard and Kennesaw avenues, to cost $5,836.80, to the Meadow Construction company.

Award of a contract to pave sixteenth street, from Peachtree street to Peachtree circle, was held up by the committee.

OPEN BIDS TODAY ON SEWER DUCTOR AND 2 SWEEPERS

Bids will be opened and recommendations made for award of contracts for purchase of two new street sweepers and sewer ductor at a meeting of the finance committee of city council, set for 11 o'clock this morning.

Bids have been received from the Elgin company, of Elgin, Ill., and the Austin-Western Road Machinery company, an Atlanta concern.

An agreement was reached several weeks ago with the Elgin company, by which the city was to have the machines for the remainder of this year, with the option of purchasing them after January 1. The contract was approved by city council, but a non-concurrence was voted by the aldermanic board when representatives of the Austin-Western company stated that they had been given no opportunity to submit bids.

The finance committee voted Friday to increase anticipated receipts from fines in recorder's court $15,000 in order to pay an accumulation of freight bills incurred in purchasing supplies and material in the street repair department.

The Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs was voted an appropriation of $500 to be used in entertaining members of the state federation at the annual convention here on November 11. The chairman of the committee and the city controller were instructed to find the money to pay the appropriation.

The sum of $1,500 was provided to pay half of the salaries of two persons engaged in pre-natal work here for the next year. Under the Shepherd-Townsend act, the state agreed to pay the remainder of the salaries if the city guarantee half for an entire year.

Purchase of two small automobile trucks for the water department was authorized, while the committee refused to allow an appropriation to buy a new machine for the plumbing inspector's office, referring to next year's finance committee a letter from the superintendent of the city garage to the effect that the present car is so badly damaged that it is beyond repair.

PARK COMMISSION LIKELY TO REFUSE OFFER FOR PARK

Refusal of Fulton county's offer of $25,000 for Beall park probably will be voted Monday by the park commission of city council, members of that body stated Friday. A special meeting of the park commission has been called for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon by Chairman James L. Wells, councilman from the eighth ward, to consider the offer.

Members of the committee stated that every attempt to sell the property will be fought because of the fact that Beall park now is being used as a playground, and is the only site available for that purpose in the neighborhood. The park is bounded by Washington street, Woodward avenue and Brown place.

The land was purchased by the city five years ago for $35,000, and at that time it was intended to erect a school building on the site. However, the $35,000 worth of playground equipment was installed early this year, and members of the park commission claim that, despite the fact that the school building was never built, the city should not be required to dispose of the property.

If council refuses the county's offer, the plan for a new high school will be dropped. The board of Fulton county commissioners has made tentative plans for erection of a $100,000 school building on the site, and if the property can be purchased from the city, it is planned also to buy the remainder of practically the entire site, which is now occupied by the building for playground purposes.

The present county high school is located in a building rented for that purpose and Transylvania and Whitehall streets, but provides no playground.

The offer was announced at the last meeting of council and was referred to the park commission for investigation.

SCHOOLS' PAYROLL HELD UP TO AWAIT RETURN OF MAYOR

With the treasury of the board of education almost depleted, and the $350,000 loan promised to meet November and December payrolls not yet received, the payroll due today, which amounts to $187,055.49, will be held up until the money can be obtained, following return of Mayor Walter A. Sims early next week.

Atlanta Clearing House banks have promised to advance $350,000 to the city for use in the school department, but the note has not yet been signed by Mayor Sims, who is absent from the city on a brief vacation, and cannot be turned over to the city until after the chief executive's signature has been affixed to the paper.

All checks have been made out, and are ready to be mailed as soon as the money is placed to the city's credit. Mayor Sims probably will return to Atlanta Sunday, in which case he is expected to sign the note Monday.

There is a possibility that the city, serving as mayor during Sims' absence, stated Friday that he knew no details of the transaction and had no authority to sign the note. Signatures of the 39 men who agreed to underwrite the loan already have been obtained, however, and the money will be accessible as soon as Mayor Sims signs the note.

The school department asked that vouchers for $150,000 be drawn regardless of whether or not the note is signed by the mayor, claiming that that amount is due for this year as the balance of 26 per cent of current revenue to be collected by the city, and which is apportioned to the school department.

However, the finance committee of city council voted Friday to allow the schools 26 per cent of only current revenues, which already have been collected, instead of its allotted percentage of the anticipated receipts, and to turn over the remainder as soon as taxes can be collected following issuance of city bills.

NEW ORDINANCE
SEEKS TO HALT
GAS STATIONS

All permits for operation of curb gasoline filling stations in Atlanta will be revoked if an ordinance presented to the streets committee of city council Friday is acted on favorably by that body and passed by general council.

The ordinance provides for revocation of all licenses permitting operation of gasoline pumps on sidewalks and curbs. It also orders all operators of such stations to restore walks to the same conditions in which they were before the stations were installed, and states that no further permits shall be issued.

However, the ordinance provides that operators of such pumps be given six months to make other arrangements for the sale of gasoline and in which to dispose of their property. If the ordinance is passed by council and signed by the mayor, it would not become effective until after a six-month period has elapsed.

The committee failed to act on the measure, deferring it until the next meeting on November 14.

The body also authorized W. A. Hansell, chief of construction, to sign in grading of the new girls' high school grounds. Mr. Hansell explained the necessity of obtaining a permit for the use of the site, which will rent a shovel, with the understanding that the rent paid is to be applied on the purchase price if the shovel later decides to buy the equipment.

The United States bureau of mines, which has been carrying on exhaustive tests of ethylized gasoline, backs the contention of the Standard Oil company that the plumb of the man who contracted lead poisoning indicates no danger to the public in the sale of the fluid. The bureau points out that tetraethyl lead and "ethyl gasoline" are quite different products, although the latter contains a small proportion of tetraethyl lead. This preparation is commonly known as one part of tetraethyl lead to 1,000 parts of gasoline.

'Queers' Alabama
School Aspirant

Birmingham, Ala., October 31.—The Jefferson county democratic executive committee today called on J. W. Minor, democratic nominee for the Jefferson county school board, to withdraw from the ticket after it became known that he contributed $50 to the republican campaign.

Minor's contribution was revealed when the republican national committee filed a list with the Borch committee.

Previous to the action of the county committee, a letter from Minor was read in which he stated that he expected to vote the democratic ticket in full at the election next Tuesday.

No announcement has been made by Minor as to whether he will comply with the request of the democratic committee.

HAS ITS FIRST
AERIAL WEDDING

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 31.—"I pronounce you man and wife," shouted the Rev. J. L. Duling, of Tulsa.

Jerry Cavanaugh, of Detroit, and his bride, Winifred Henderson, of Cherokee, Okla., went through the usual "clutches" the bridal party hurled rice and a few old brooms, and the two airplanes descended from a 2,300-foot altitude over the business section of the city.

Oklahoma's first aerial wedding had been held.

"If I were to be married 50 times I wouldn't have the wedding under any other conditions," Jerry grinned happily.

"Very good idea," agreed the Rev. Mr. Duling, who offered his services after Cavanaugh had sought vainly for a week for a real "sky pilot."

"Folks are always in the air when they get married anyway."

New York, October 31.—Wall street betting brokers, for the first time, Friday quoted odds on a woman candidate.

A bet of $10,000 to $5,000 was placed with J. S. Fried & Co., that "Ma" Ferguson will be elected governor of Texas on November 4. Another bet of $10,000 at even money was placed that she will have a majority of 25,000 votes.

Atlanta Police Criticized For Laxity to Criminals

Declaring that certain members of the Atlanta police department were lax in their investigation of criminal acts on their "beats," the Fulton county grand jury Friday, in a special report, severely criticized members of the department and cited their "apparent lack of any desire to perform their duties under their oaths as officers."

The grand jurors declared they found it their duty to severely criticize these men for their failure to either arrest criminals or to report their presence on their beats to their superior officers.

At the same time, the grand jury declared that an exception to this condition was found in the commendable work of the detective department, which is headed by Captain A. J. Holcombe. The members of this department, with special reference to the automobile theft squad, were highly commended.

Gambling Probe Discussed.

The report also discussed the gambling probe, declaring that gambling had grown to be a serious menace to Atlanta. The grand jurors declared they had spent much time in investigating gambling conditions, and had found gambling dens wide open and operating in all parts of the city.

"They are the spawning places of crime," the report said, "and are headquarters for criminals of all kinds."

The report urged the courts to deal severely with those indicted in the recent gambling war, especially those charged with operating gambling houses.

"We found serious conditions existing in the city," the report said, "and evident lack of any effort on the part of police to break up these joints."

Too Lenient on Bootleggers.

With reference to bootlegging, the grand jurors declared they felt that their efforts, and the efforts of other grand jurors, had been made negative by the system of imposing fines on bootleggers when found guilty, instead of imposing jail or chain gang sentences. "The fining of such criminals," the grand jurors declared, "was, in their opinion, equivalent to 'licensing them, so far as their activities are concerned.'"

The grand jurors then called attention to the investigation of the county jail, the county house and city police station. They stated that the jail had been found in bad shape and badly in need of repairs. The jail hospital was said to be in poor condition, and the attendance of all citizens in the building were pointed out. The court house jail was found to be in excellent condition.

Police Station Is "Disgrace."

The city police station was branded as a disgrace to the city of Atlanta and county of Fulton. "It was filthy, dark and full of vermin," the report said. The grand jurors recommended the building be razed and a new police station and county jail.

The Fulton county police department was found to be "running efficiently and smoothly," the report said. "We call the attention of all citizens to the alarming increase in crimes of violence," the report said. "During eight weeks the grand jury indicted twelve murderers. Severity and certainty of punishment should follow swiftly after trial and conviction."

The grand jurors particularly urged that some institution be provided for boys and girls of tender age, where they may be confined and taught some occupation while serving sentences imposed by courts. These young men and women, between the ages of 14

PEACHTREE ROAD HOME

We hardly know whether to call this Peachtree Rd. or Peachtree St. The location is in the vicinity of Brookwood Station; and a great many people consider this one of the choice residential locations in Atlanta. In fact, it would be hard to designate any residential community in the southern states more desirable to live in or possessing any advantage over this section.

Most of the homes on Peachtree in the Brookwood section are held in firms hands and are not offered for sale. Any real estate man feels that it is a privilege if he can get a price that is reasonable on one of these homes. We are offering one for sale at $25,000; it is a rather large house, having 10 rooms; lot is 1400 feet deep. Feel free to call on our salesmen and get them to show you this place.
